CARRANZA REPORTED FLEEING TO VERA CRUZ

RAILROADS CALL ON GOVERNMENT FOR $500,000,000

Executives Tell Congress Additional Half Billion Is Needed to Purchase Rolling Stock.

ASSERTED THAT ROADS LACK CASH AND CREDIT

Claimed That Thousands of Cars and Hundreds of Locomotives Are Needed—Request May Be Granted.

Washington, May 6.—Railroad executives today asked congress for an additional $500,000,000 with which to buy rolling stock during the coming year.

Appearing before the senate interstate commerce committee, representatives of the carriers declared a serious and general car shortage existed through the middle west and that they were unable to borrow money on their own credit for freight cars needed to remedy the situation.

Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania system, speaking for the roads, suggested that the government, if it furnished the money, take equipment trust certificates for security, and hold them until they could be sold advantageously to general investors.

The Equipment Needed.

Some idea of what the roads needed in the way of equipment was given the committee by E. N. Brown, chairman of the St. Louis and San Francisco, who declared the present shortage amounted to 226,000 freight cars; 3,190 locomotives and 6,000 passenger cars. He believed they could get along for a time with 100,000 freight cars and 2,000 locomotives, total cost of which was estimated at $616,000,000.

Mr. Brown testified that the carriers had paid as high as 7¾ per cent interest on equipment funds in the open market and finally had been told that $150,000,000 was all that could be borrowed for that purpose.

Samuel Rae, of the Pennsylvania, an dA. H. Smith, of the New York Central, declared to the committee that when the government turned back the railroads they had neither cash, credit nor proper equipment. Edward N. Brown, of the Frisco, asserted it will take $1,600,000,000 to provide the roads with the equipment they need, and that funds cannot be borrowed at present.

Samuel M. Felton, of Chicago, chairman of the western executive rate committee, in presenting an application for rate increases to the interstate commerce commission today, asserted the immediate needs of the railroads of the country are 100,000 freight cars, 2,000 locomotives, 3,000 passenger cars and 1,000 baggage cars. These, he said, would cost $600,000,000.

Money May Be Granted.

Hearings before the senate committee are to continue Friday, following which it will be decided whether a measure is to be reported to give the railroad executives the loans they ask. There are indications the committee will regard the petition with favor, if the government can be protected, since members feel there is pressing need for betterment of transportation facilities.

"Railroad facilities are not commensurate to present demands," said Felton. "There is congestion at many points. Lumber and grain movements from the northwest are choked back because of insufficiency of available equipment, and the same is true of fruit shipments from the west, grain from the middle west, and coal and coke, ore, vegetables, automobiles, manufactured articles and merchandise in other sections.

"There is continually increasing demand on the part of the traveling public for more passenger equipment, more frequent train service and better accommodations."

QUEER ACCIDENT BASIS OF SUIT AGAINST DRUG CO.

Alleging that her hip and thigh were broken in an accident in DeKalb avenue three weeks ago and as a result of negligence on the part of the chauffeur of the McRoberts Drug company while operating a motor truck in a reckless manner, Jinnette Ewing, little 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Eldorado Ewing, through her attorneys, Reuben R. Arnold and Len B. Guillebeau, grought suit for $15,000 damages in the city court of Atlanta Thursday.

The mother filed a companion action, claiming $5,000 for medical expenses, and also for the loss of services of her child.

The girl was injured in front of her home, 956 DeKalb avenue. A truck of the McRoberts Drug company is said to have struck a street car, which threw it against an express truck. This forced the express truck into the rear of a wagon stationed beside the curbing, knocking the horse upon the sidewalk and into the child.

641,900 Veteran Of the World War Need Federal Aid

New York, May 6.—There are 641,900 veterans of the world war dependent on the bounty of the United States for future existence, at an annual cost of $325,000,000, according to Dr. W. C. Rucker, chief medical adviser of the bureau of war risk insurance, who reports this number discharged from the army and navy with disabilities. These figures, said to represent the first authentic tabulation, were made public here today by the committee for aid to disabled veterans and referendum on the bonus.

Dr. Rucker's report shows there are at least 76,588 cases of neuropsychiatric disease among the disabled discharged men, divided as follows:

Endocrino-pathics, 4,823; epilepsy, 6,985; psycho-neurosis, 13,944; inebriates, 1,858; insane, 12,544; feebleminded 22,538; constitutional psychoinferiors, 6,609. In addition, there are 46,310 cases of tuberculosis, 75,000 surgical cases, 62,869 eye, ear, nose and throat and 22,847 miscellaneous.

"To the above figures," said Dr. Rucker, "should be added enough men to make 641,900, which is believed to be the maximum number discharged with disability."

SNUB BY BRITAIN TO CONGRESSMEN

Premier Lloyd-George Ignores Message About Ireland—United States and Ireland Discussed in Commons.

London, May 6.—Premier Lloyd-George will not take cognizance of the message from American congressmen relative to Ireland.

"This sort of thing has ceased to cause any stir here," an official at 10 Downing street told the Associated Press this morning. "We long since have come to believe that resolutions and messages coming from America are political maneuvers and that they do not represent American sentiment. Consequently, they have little weight."

Not Printed by Some Papers.

Some of the London newspapers do not publish the message to Premier Lloyd-George from 88 American congressmen protesting against the holding of Irish prisoners without trial, while others print it inconspicuously. The only editorial reference to the message thus far was in The Pall Mall Gazette, which did not publish the cablegram, but referred to it under "notes of the day," saying:

"Eighty-eight members of the United States congress have informed Premier Lloyd-George of their objections to the detention of Irish prisoners without trial. That they do not reproach him with murdering the Lord Mayor of Cork must be set down to the nice sense of international delicacy which distinguishes their species."

The subject of the support given to "the Irish republic" by some persons in the United States came up in the house of commons today. Horatio Bottomley asked whether the government was aware that appeals for subscriptions for bonds addressed by de Valera as "president of the Irish republic," were still appearing in American newspapers and were supported by the governors of various states, and whether Great Britain proposed to make representations on the matter to President Wilson.

Attitude of Government.

Mr. Bonar Law, replying in behalf of the government, said it was understood such appeals were still appearing in certain American papers, but he was not in a position to say whether they were supported by any governor. Great Britain, he added, was not prepared to make representations.

Mr. Bottomley asked whether Mr. Law had seen the announcement that already 2,000,000 pounds had been subscribed to this fund and that triumphant processions had gone through the principal streets of the United States in celebration of the event and that De Valere had been entertained by state governors. He asked if Mr. Bonar Law did not consider that in international law this amounted to an unfriendly act and whether new instructions would be given to the British ambassador.

The government leader said he had not been a statement of the specific facts named, but it did not alter his view regarding Great Britain's right course, namely, that it was not always wise to take action to which a country had the legal right.

PEAK OF PRICES REACHED IN SHOES, DECLARE TANNERS

Atlantic City, N. J., May 6.—The peak of prices in footwear has been reached, but it would take three to four months for any reduction to reach the consumer, the executive committee of the tanners' council of the United States reported at the council's annual meeting here today.

President F. A. Vogel, of Milwaukee, deplored the attitude of manufacturers affiliated with the council who do not look with favor upon suggestions made by its labor bureau to meet demands of workingmen for improvements in working conditions and surroundings.

"It has become very clear," he declared, "that notwithstanding all the talk about bringing about a better understanding between employer and employee, the mental attitude of either side is still so far apart that a great struggle lies before us."

MAJESTIC HOTEL SOON TO BECOME OFFICE BUILDING

J. Lee Barnes' Lease for Two and Half Years Is Secured by Alfriends for the Sum of $50,000.

WILL START CHANGES WITHIN SIXTY DAYS

Understood That Negotiations Are Under Way for Erection of Theater in Rear of Building.

New and commodious office building space in Atlanta is assured by the fact that J. Lee Barnes on Thursday closed a deal with E. W. and Winter Alfriend, selling them his lease on the Majestic hotel property for a consideration of $50,000, a record price for a lease of such short duration, as Mr. Barnes' lease expires in two and one-half years. Messrs. Alfriend expressed their intention, several weeks ago, of eventually developing this property, which they purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Landingham, of Charlotte, N. C., into an office building.

The terms of the agreement whereby the sale of the lease was made, said Mr. Barnes, will permit the building's use as a hotel for sixty days longer, when improvements will be begun with a view to making it a permanent office building.

Two-Story Addition Planned.

It is understood that a two-story addition to the building will be constructed on its Peachtree plaza frontage, the new structure to be utilized as stores or for some sort of commercial houses. The transformation of the hotel into an office building should be accomplished quickly, it is said, since the original plan of the building was made with the idea of it being adaptable to either of these uses.

Preference, it has been said, will be given in the rental of office space in the building to tenants who wish a large amount of floor space, such as 5,000 feet, so that the building may be rented a floor at a time. Taking into consideration the small amount of work necessary to making the structure ready for its new form of occupation, and the fact that the Majestic hotel will operate as such for two more months, it is believed that office space in the building will be occupied by late summer or early fall.

Work of removing furniture, furnishings and such plumbing as will not be used by office tenants, will begin soon, Mr. Barnes said.

The building is one of the handsomest in Atlanta, being of absolutely fire-proof steel construction. It was erected in 1895, and during practically all of the time since its completion, the hotel has been under management of Mr. Barnes. Mr. Barnes was represented in his transactions with Messrs. Alfriend, by Robert C. and Phillip Alston, prominent Atlanta law firm.

May Build Theater.

Another possibility attendant upon the sale of the lease is that of a new theater, which may be constructed on part of the property, in the rear of the hotel, and it is understood that Messrs. Alfriend have already begun preliminary negotiations with parties who are interested in this feature of the development.

In discussion of his sale, Mr. Barnes said that he had no intention of leaving Atlanta or the hotel business, but that the sale seemed to him the logical thing, since Atlanta's great demand for office space had slight precedence over the hotel demand in that offices furnished permanent quarters for those who came to make their homes in Atlanta.

"It seems somewhat a pity to reduce Atlanta's hotel facilities," said Mr. Barnes, "but the demand for office space comes from those who are intending permanent residence in Atlanta. Another feature that aided in my decision is that the property which the Majestic hotel represents is of such value that the income from a hotel which is not really of immense size is not compatible with the worth of the property as will be evident in an office building."

Although Mr. Barnes has made no announcement as to the specific work he will pursue after the hotel has been turned over to the purchasers of his lease, he has expressed an intention to continue in the hotel business, and says that he will choose some logical proposition from among those he has in view.

PENALTIES FOR DELAY ON WIRE MESSAGES

Washington, May 6.—Telegraph companies would be liable to penalties for delay in transmitting messages under a bill introduced today by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi. A flat penalty of $100 per message with a provision for $300,000, additional damages for negligence is proposed.

$5,000 U. S. Hat Barred to Wife By Deschanel

French President Rejects Gift of American Milliners—"14 Points" Made by Paris Milliners Against Gift.

New York, May 6.—President Deschanel, of France, has refused to permit Mme. Deschanel to accept the $5,000 hat offered her by 3,000 American milliners for her indorsement of the "four seasons for millinery."

This was announced today at the convention here of the Millinery Jobbers' association, when a letter was read from Ambassador Jusserand, declining the American creation made from material supplied by each of the 48 states and decorated with nine paradise plumes, each costing $500.

The ambassadorial letter, addressed to Henry S. Bernard, president of the association, read:

"Since it is not possible for Mme. Deschanel to receive, under such conditions any gift of value, the president begs you not to realize your intention for which he begs me, however, to tender you his sincere thanks."

Hardly had the reading of this letter ended, when the milliners were read a cable from the Society for the Improvement of Millinery Art in France, giving "fourteen points" why Mme. Deschanel should not accept the gift. The points were:

1. Bad precedent. Paris only style center.
2. America took advantage of Paris during war.
3. Americans dangerously resourceful.
4. Paris never produced so expensive a hat as $5,000. Big a novelty as Eiffel tower.
5. Paris milliners object to acceptance of hat.
6. Such gift is like carrying coals to Newcastle.
7. South American trade stolen from Paris by New York.
8. American prohibition will help Paris regain South American trade.
9. America should not give away what it will not buy—paradise.
10. American milliners should be content to buy the dictates of Paris.
11. American buyers already act dictatorially toward Paris creators. They want what they term American style. This must stop.
12. The label, made in Paris, must be included in all world-wide styles.
13. America has no artistic atmosphere—nothing but colossal wealth.
14. Rate of exchange gives America unfair advantage over Paris creators.

Police Board Acts to Close Two Hotels Here

Houses Operated in Disorderly Manner, Commission Informed—Proprietor of One Under Bond.

The police committee of council yesterday afternoon passed a resolution recommending the license of the New Folsom hotel, at 16 1-2 Marietta street, and the Georgia hotel, at 22 1-2 West Mitchell street, be revoked. This action was said to be the result of reports by Chief Beavers and members of the detective force which indicated the two hotels were conducted in a disorderly manner.

A. W. Florence, proprietor of the Folsom hotel, was held under bond for the grand jury on a charge of operating a disorderly and immoral house, in th erecorder's court yesterday afternoon. His attorney, C. Don Miller, participated in a near clash with Lamar Poole, chief of detectives, during the hearing before Judge Johnson. There was a wordy clash and Colonel Miller seized a weight from the judge's desk. However, it was taken from him and the trial proceeded after the recorder admonished Mr. Miller.

The resolution recommending revocation for the two hotels will be introduced in council by Chairman Albert H. Martin, of the police board, at the meeting of council Monday, May 17.

Lieutenant Shaw, of the city detectives, appeared before the board to describe conditions in the new Folsom totel.

The police committee also considered the applications of taxicab drivers whose licenses had been revoked. Several were reinstated and others placed on probation.

'WET' EDWARDS' HAT IN PRESIDENTIAL RING

New York, May 6.—Governor Edwards, of New Jersey, tonight became an avowed, active candidate for the democratic nomination for president of the United States. Walker W. Vick, personal friend of the governor, issued the formal announcement of his candidacy and of the opening here of Edwards campaign headquarters.

"Governor Edwards begins his campaign without any political machinery or prestige lent him from any source," Mr. Vick said. "He runs on his record as governor of New Jersey, as its former comptroller and as a man of affairs in the business and financial world of this country for the past twenty-five years. His rise in the business world as a self-made man, as well as his entire career, both business and political, presents abundant proof of his sympathetic regard for the great productive forces of the country."

BENSON WARNED SIMS TO BEWARE OF THE BRITISH

Admiral Says He Was Afraid Sims Would Let Friendship for the British Influence Him.

ENMITY TO BRITISH DENIED BY BENSON

He Says Warning Given Sims Was to Impress Him That United States Was Still a Neutral.

Washington, May 6.—Denying that he had any feeling against the British, Rear Admiral William S. Benson declared before the senate naval investigating committee today that he had been done a grave injustice through Admiral Sims' interpretation of instructions received before going abroad.

Admiral Benson said he could not recall whether in his final instructions to Admiral Sims he had said "don't let the British pull wool over your eyes; we would as soon fight them as the Germans," but added if he had used such language, it was for the purpose of impressing upon the admiral that the United States still was a neutral.

Sims Cautioned Twice.

The witness told the committee that he had not only cautioned Admiral Sims on that occasion, but twice during the war not to let his friendship for the British unduly influence him. He discussed the matter with the officer first in London, he said, and later in Paris. He explained that he was prompted by what he described as a feeling growing in the United States that Admiral Sims was permitting his friendship for the British to influence him unduly in using American destroyers to protect British shipping.

On neither occasion, said Admiral Benson, did he use the language attributed to him by Admiral Sims.

Admiral Sims, the witness said, had the entire confidence of the department. His recommendations were given every consideration consistent with the general policy of giving all possible aid to the allies.

Asked by the chairman why, if this were true, all of Admiral Sims' recommendations were not immediately followed, the witness said Admiral Sims was not charged with final responsibility and the department's acts had to be based on the general situation.

Instructions to Sims.

Asked by Chairman Hale what instructions he gave Admiral Sims before that officer first sailed for London, Admiral Benson said he cautioned him to be very careful of his conduct in view of the delicate situation and to remember that the United States still was a neutral.

"I gave him very earnest instructions along that line," said the witness. "I felt very strongly regarding the situation and probably used very forcible language to impress on him the seriousness of the situation, but what words I used I cannot recall."

Admiral Benson added that if Sims said he had been told not to let the British pull the wool over his eyes, it would have to go at that.

"You do not deny it?" asked the chairman.

"I cannot deny it under oath," replied Admiral Benson. "I do deny the interpretation that has been placed or attempted to be placed on it. I don't think anything could have been more confidential than my conversation with Admiral Sims."

"How could you say that we would as soon fight the British as the Germans?" asked the chairman.

"Merely as a figure of speech to impress on him the seriousness of his task," was the reply.

Sims and the British.

Admiral Benson said that late in 1917 a feeling had grown up in the United States that Admiral Sims was being persuaded to give too much attention to British shipping and was using American destroyers too largely in connection with British vessels. The witness testified that when he was in London he told Admiral Sims of this feeling and advised him as a friend to be more careful not only for his own sake, but because of his official position.

"To say that I repeated the language Admiral Sims says I used before he went abroad is absolutely untrue," declared the witness. "I never had any unkindly feeling or anything along that line that the quotation could indicate. He said he knew that I was anti-British. I don't think I ever had a conversation with him along that line. My attitude then was one of enthusiastic co-operation. I deny now any unfriendly feeling. I feel that a great injustice has been done me that should be corrected. I can never visit Great Britain again as I should like to, and I have many dear friends there and have been honored with one of the highest decorations that government can give."

Questions by Outside Parties.

Charges that witnesses before the committee were being asked questions prepared by "outside parties" were made by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada.

"I object to the reading of questions fired up here every day by messengers," said Senator Pittman. The hearings have been dragging on three or four months and I am satisfied that no members of the committee or the chairman would be asking the same question over

California Vote Fails to Change Herbert Hoover

Attitude Toward Nomination Remains Same—Alleges Result Is Not Indorsement of Johnson's Anti-League Views.

New York, May 6.—Herbert Hoover, candidate for the republican presidential nomination, in a statement issued here tonight, declared his attitude toward the nomination has not been changed by the California primaries, and that he will not organize a campaign nor "have my supporters raise a great campaign fund and then mortgage my soul in advance in order to attain the election."

"I believe that the people have a right to elect their president without having someone put over on them," he said. "I have certain definite ideas regarding economic, social and international problems. I believe that these ideas are, in many ways, in accord with the ideas of the great majority of American citizens."

"I can only repeat what I have said before," he added, "and that is that I have never had any personal ambition in this thing. My interest is only that of any other citizen who wants to see the government reflect the spirit of its people."

Mr. Hoover said he did not regard the California result as an indorsement of Senator Johnson's stand on the league of nations, but that his rival's supporters had made the campaign so much one of personalities that the international issues involved were lost sight of. In his opinion, he said, the country was neither reactionary nor radical, but was progressively liberal.

R. I. DEMOCRATS SHY AT ARTICLE 10

They Disapprove as Submitted by Wilson—Ask Irish Recognition—Connecticut Democrats for Ireland and Beer.

Providence, R. I., May 6.—Disapproval of Article 10 of the covenant of the league of nations, as submitted by President Wilson to the senate, but approval of a league of nations that would conform to the principle of self-determination for small nations was expressed by the democratic party of Rhode Island in a resolution adopted at the state convention here today.

Another resolution commended Senator Peter G. Gerry for his stand in behalf of Ireland, as expressed in the resolution bearing his name that was adopted by the senate on March 18 last. The resolution also directed the delegates from this state to the national convention at San Francisco "to do everything in their power to the end that the Irish republic be recognized by the government of the United States." The convention also expressed its approval of President Wilson and his administration.

Ten uninstructed delegates were elected to the national convention. Three women were included in the delegation.

The platform discussed the eighteenth amendment briefly, confining its recommendation to urging an amendment to the federal constitution that would provide for ratification of amendments in the future by popular votes in the states.

P. H. Quin, of West Warwick, was re-elected national committeeman.

NUTMEG DEMOCRATS ASK IRISH RECOGNITION.

New Haven, Conn., May 6.—Revision of the Volstead act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines was favored by the democratic state convention today. A recommendation of the state central committee that the Connecticut delegation to San Francisco be instructed to vote as a unit was rejected.

The platform alluded to President Wilson's illness as follows:

"We, the members of the state convention of the democratic party in Connecticut, rejoice with the decent citizens of every party, at the encouraging return of Woodrow Wilson to his customary health; and we are happy that his protracted illness has left unimpaired the vigor and brilliance of an intellect that has been an inspiration of the world and that has made his leadership of such benign and incalculable consequence to the human race."

Another plank recited the achievements of the democratic administration and party and referring to the treaty of peace contest in the United States senate said: "We condemn the frustration by a partisan senate of the rightful fruits of the nation's victory."

Another plank in relation to Irish affairs was as follows:

"We sympathize with the aspirations of the Irish people in the formation of a government of their own choosing and favor the recognition of the republic of Ireland."

The four delegates-at-large chosen were David E. Fitzgerald, of New Haven, the state chairman; T. J. Spellacy, of Hartford, an assistant United States attorney general; Charles D. Lockwood, of Stamford, and Bryan F. Mahan, postmaster of New London. Ten district delegates also were chosen and each will name his alternate.

The convention in actual business session lasted less than fifteen

PLANNING BOARD ADOPTS INITIAL ORGANIZATION

Amendment to Be Asked to City Charter Providing Adequate Authority for Body.

REVISION OF CHARTER "NOT AIM OF BOARD"

Commission Not to Back Any Fight to Reform Mode of Government in Atlanta.

Adoption of a preliminary plan of organization for the new city planning commission and the passage of a resolution defining the commission's attitude with regard to changes in the Atlanta city charter necessary to allow it to properly function, were features of yesterday afternoon's meeting of the commission held in the council chamber at city hall. Colonel W. L. Peel, chairman, presided over the meeting, and he urged the chairmen of the various committees of the commission to take steps immediately to start the activities of their respective branches of the new work. Nearly all members of the commission were in attendance.

Charter Descussed.

Considerable discussion was held regarding the subject of charter changes. This was precipitated by reference to the question in a report presented by Chairman Peel. Just at adjournment, the commission unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is not the purpose of the planning commission to change or revise the city charter, but rather to secure amendments to such a character as to give the planning commission the same powers that are given planning commissions in other progressive cities of America." This resolution was introduced by R. R. Otis.

In the discussion leading up to the adoption of the resolution, City Councilman A. J. Orme emphasized that the commission's purpose was simply to obtain such revision of the charter as will enable it to be a vital factor in the future development of Atlanta. It was not the purpose to place the influence of the commission behind any plan to change the fundamental form of city government, for it was pointed out that planning commissions are performing valuable work in other communities under various forms of municipal government.

Key Supports Orme.

Mayor James L. Key supported the views of Mr. Orme, pointing out that adequate powers can be conferred upon the commission regardless of the form of the city government. He thought it should be understood generally that the commission does not propose to go into the matter of fundamental charter revisions.

P. H. Norcross made it plain that the commission must boldly seek all charter changes actually necessary for the accomplishment of the purpose for which it was created, yet he said he did not for a minute understand that a charter fight was to be backed by the commission. W. L. Moore took a similar position.

Chairman Peel, in his report, said: "The charter of Atlanta must be revised or modified to meet modern conditions and should include provisions for a city planning commission, forming an integral part of the local government, which commission can work with the knowledge that eventually their plans will be translated into actual accomplishment." The chairman has obtained valuable suggestions as a result of his recent attendance upon the twelfth national conference of city planners at Cincinnati.

"After learning what other municipalities are accomplishing through the medium of a properly empowered and organized city planning commission, I am profoundly impressed with our unpreparedness," said the chairman, "both as a commission and as a community. We have not anticipated the future growth of Atlanta in a way that is necessary to conserve the best interests of the city and its citizens."

Powers Outlined.

He outlined the functions and

The new law, whic his incorporated in the penal law, reads:

OBREGON MANIFESTO AGAINST CARRANZA

Carranza Refuses To Resign Presidency In Face of Rebellion

Mexico City, May 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Refusal to abandon the presidency in face of the menace of rebellion featured a manifesto issued yesterday on the occasion of the national holiday by President Carranza.

The president announced he would fight to a finish to put down the rebellion, and that he would not turn over the presidency to anyone except a legally-elected successor. He enunciated the principle of the elimination of the coup de'etat from Mexican politics, asserting that the presidency must not be a prize for military leaders.

In the manifesto President Carranza declared it would be impossible to hold the presidential elections which had been set for July 4. Also he traced the events in Mexico, which he charged represented a plot by the followers of General Obregon to gain the presidency by means of violence.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—President Carranza was scheduled to leave Mexico City for Vera Cruz some time today, according to a telegram received from Nogales, Ariz., tonight by La Patria, a Spanish language newspaper published here.

The message was signed by A. Almada, head of the revolutionists' department of information and propaganda at Nogales.

In view of reports received earlier in the day that the railroad service from Mexico City to Vera Cruz had been suspended, some doubts were expressed here as to the probability that the Mexican chief executive had been able to depart. It was pointed out, however, that as a result of the critical situation of the federal government, a special effort might have been made to run a special train for President Carranza.

The text of the message relating to Carranza, received by La Patria, follows:

"Carranza, accompanied by ministers, leaves today for Vera Cruz. Some days ago he sent his son-in-law, Candido Aguilar, ahead to Vera Cruz with an advance guard."

Puebla, one of the largest cities of Mexico, was reported to have powers of various successful commissions in other communities, and said the commission must be a component part of the olca lgovernment; must be non-political in personnel, and must have ample funds to gather data, employ experts and prepare plans. Bond issues are required to make the work successful, he said.

THE PLANNING BOARD ADOPTS ORGANIZATION

Chairman Peel emphasized the need of larger territory for Atlanta, more and better streets, extensions of water, sewerage and drainage systems, modern educational institutions and improvements in railroad facilities, adding, "The railroad gulch which divides our fair city is a disgrace to our community."

Acting on Colonel Peel's suggestion, the executive committee was empowered to make a close study of planning commissions in other municipalities.

Councilman Orme agreed to call a meeting of the finance committee of city council for next Thursday, May 13, at 3 p. m., at city hall, at which time the planning commission will go before the committeemen as a body and make an appeal for the immediate appropriation of $2,500, the city's share of expenses for the work of the commission during the rest of the current year.

and over again unless they were submitted by outside parties."

Chairman Hale replied that he had asked for legal counsel and it had been refused by the senate, adding that he had to have help in preparing the questions.

"Then it is obvious that the will of the senate is being avoided by the reading of questions prepared by an admiral for outside parties," Senator Pittman declared.

After the hearing had adjourned Senator Pittman informed Chairman Hale that he had learned that the record of yesterday's proceedings had been changed and certain portions deleted and that he would elaborate on the subject tomorrow. The portions of the record stricken out, Senator Hale said, dealt with a colloquy between the chairman and Senator Pittman as to the right to question witnesses.

Examination of Admiral Benson will be continued tomorrow.

government would take steps to halt the malicious campaign which, he declared was destroying the friendly relations between this country and the United States. To this Mr. Bonar Law did not reply.

Robert Burton Chadwick asked whether Mr. Bonar Law was aware that "this outlaw" was recently honored with the freedom of New Orleans and whether any representations had been made to the United States in the face of "this deliberate insult by an ostensibly friendly power."

Mr. Bonar Law answered that he was quite satisfied the good feeling of the United States was not represented at all by such demonstrations and he did not believe that any action the British government could take against them would have any other effect than to make the realtions worse.

MICHIGAN DEMOCRATS FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Detroit, Mich., May 6.—Democratic county conventions were held throughout Michigan today to select delegates to the state convention at Grand Rapids May 19. Practically all the counties heard from adopted resolutions praising the democratic national administration and denouncing the republican congress. Few made any direct reference to a presidential nominee and a number of counties favored sending an uninstructed delegation to the national convention.

Herbert Hoover, a candidate for the republican nomination, was the democratic primary choice, his name appearing on both tickets.

The state convention will select four delegates at large and the twenty-six districts delegates will be named in caucuses at Grand Rapids on the same day.

MAJOR M'CLATCHEY LOSES ANOTHER CAR

Major Dovereaux F. McClatchey says he's a good fellow, and all that, but the everlasting persistence of automobile thieves in Atlanta is about to obtain his nanny goat. "They," meaning thieves, got a second car from Mr. McClatchey last night about 6:30 o'clock. "They" I use it sometimes."

got the first two months ago, but it was recovered.

"This one was docilely standing on its four feet last night in front of my home in Ansley Park, not bothering any one," said Mr. McClatchey. "Some one enticed it away for no good purpose, I feel sure. I guess boys will be boys, but I do hope "they" will return the car when 'they' are through with it.

Wealth Worship Peril to Nation, Says Dr. Straton

Pastor Who Struck Mighty Blow at Vice in New York Is Here for Visit.

"Worship of Mammon is the root of all the evils of society. In New York this Mammon worship is assuming immense proportions. We in this country have made money more rapidly than any other people and it is now at the very summit of our success that we are in the greatest danger."

Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, the man whose one sermon on vice conditions in New York shook the tree of evil institution to its roots, brought a reckoning to the police department, caused the dismissal of police officers and shook the town to its very core, gave his views to The Constitution last night on his arrival here to visit Mrs. Katherine H. Connerat in East 14th street. He came from Greenville, Ga., where he went to school, to Atlanta, where he spent many of his early years. Sunday he preached a baccalaureate sermon in Marion, Ala., and next Sunday he will preach at the Tabernacle here. It will be in the afternoon.

Sermon Stirs City.

Probably no other minister has received such nation-wide publicity through his efforts at reform. Press dispatches carried thousands of words uttered by Dr. Straton, while seers and sages were silent, that is, by wire. Police commissioners trembled, ward politicians chewed black cigars in perturbation; women shivered when he spoke against evil conditions in New York. He is credited with having wrought mightier deeds by the sting of verbal denunciation than were accomplished by the district attorney with his entire force.

Dr. Straton said, first, he was glad to be in the south, and, second, to be in Atlanta. "I am very glad to get back to the south," he said, and added: "It is a place where time is plentiful. In New York we have the continual feeling that there is not enough time to do the business we have to do. Men work under enormous pressure and preachers are subject to the same strain."

Dr. Straton is tall, slender, keen-eyed and vigorous. Notwithstanding his gray hair, he gives an impression of youth and his ideas come crowding word on top of word so swiftly and evenly it often is difficult to follow the trend of his thought. Somehow, he conveys the idea that here, in this man, there will be no compromise with the easy virtues of life. And it is so.

Compares Conditions.

Asked to compare conditions in New York with other cities, he said: "The New York condditions are probably no worse than many other places, when one considers the environment in which its citizens live. We in New York have the most cosmopolitan population in the world. All races are blended there in close association; they live like cave-dwellers, in a state of great congestion, and it is naturally a fertile soil for the dissemination of vice.

"I cannot close my eyes to these things. The fall of every great nation in the world's history has had its foundation in the wrong relation of the sexes, the destruction of the family and the loss of the virtue of its women"

"Rome was a mighty nation during its early days, when the Roman's life was austere and simple. The men were great warriors and the women were chaste while the race was struggling for supremacy. But when Rome reached the height of its glory and wealth had been accumulated, the Romans began to loosen their rigid principles, and from that time they began to decline.

Sees Peril in Riches.

"We in this country have made money more rapidly than any other country in history, and it is now at the summit of our success that we are in the greatest danger. The danger period of a young man's career is not the time when he is grinding and striving for success. His test comes after he has achieved prosperity. That is the nation's test. Can we stand prosperity?"

"There are a few very simple things that form the basis of a nation's happiness, and they are fundamental. A right relation between the sexes, the sacredness or integrity of the family, for the family is the foundation of all society and existed even before religion, purity and devotion in women, and honor among men.

"I should put the worship of mammon at the bottom of all the evils of our modern society, the worship of mammon instead of the worship of God. In New York this mammon worship is assuming immense proportions."

To Preach Here.

"Before I made my charges against the conditions that prevailed in that city I resolved to observe them myself. I gathered together a number of young men who knew the night life, and we personally visited many dance halls, cabarets and other places where our youth resorted.

"In one of these places I saw between five and six thousand young men and women dancing under close personal contact between the sexes. The girls, many of whom were mere children in short dresses, were garbed in clothing that covered not more than a third of their bodies. The air was filled with the fumes of cigarette smoke and of the liquor that was being sold openly all around them, and there they danced until nearly dawn to the strains of sensuous music. We were solicited by women on all sides, and the young girls who go to such dances, of course, are subject to those influences."

Dr. Straton will preach in the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday afternoon. He will go into the history of his crusade in New York.

NAVAL RESERVISTS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Confirmation in rating of enlisted personnel and plans for a summer cruise of destroyers from Charleston to eastern points will be the principal discussions of a meeting of the naval reservists, of the Sixth district, which will be held Friday night, at 8:30 o'clock, in the convention room of the Piedmont hotel. An organization will be completed. Lieutenant H. A. Field, senior officer for the district, will preside.

The body will discuss the confirmation of ratings, missed from various causes and which will carry with it increased pay lately accorded the reserve. It is hoped that a large enough number will make the trip, which will include in its itinerary, Boston, Bar Harbor and New York, to man a destroyer. About 100 officers and 2,000 enlisted men will attend the meeting.

GEORGIA R. & POWER MAN GIVES OUT FACTS

Says He Thinks Everybody in Atlanta Ought to Know What a Wonderful Thing Pomeroy's Puratone Is.

"I think everybody in Atlanta ought to know about Pomeroy's Puratone, and I am giving this statement so others may know what this wonderful medicine will do," said J. V. Thomas, residing at 429 Allene Ave., Capitol View, Atlanta, and for the past eleven years a valued employe of the Georgia Railway & Power Co.

"For three years my health hadn't been good," continued Mr. Thomas, "and I was going down hill every day, suffering from stomach and a general rundown condition. My appetite left me and the little I ate caused gas to form on my stomach, heartburn, palpitation of the heart and bloating. I had severe pains in my stomach and chest, and was constipated all the time. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep good and felt weak and tired all day. My condition finally became so bad I was hardly able to work. I couldn't walk any distance without giving out of breath.

"After taking Pomeroy's Puratone I am happy to say that my troubles have all left me and I am feeling fine. I have a big appetite now, eat three hearty meals every day, enjoy every mouthful and everything agrees with me perfectly. I am no longer constipated and the dizzy spells, headaches, heartburn, fullness and all the pain has entirely left me. I can now breathe free and easy and my sleep is sound and restful and my work is a pleasure to me, and I feel fine all day. I am gaining weight and strength every day, in fact, my improvement has been so wonderful that my friends are all asking me what I have been taking. I am saying a good word for Pomeroy's Puratone every chance I have."

Dorsey Denies Slayer Irwin's Clemency Plea

Man Convicted of Killing J. G. Moody Must Remain at Prison Farm for Full Term of Sentence.

The petition for clemency for Rush Irwin, who was convicted of slaying J. G. Moody and sentenced to serve one year at the prison farm by a jury in the criminal division of the Fulton superior court last November, was denied by Governor Hugh M. Dorsey in a formal order which he signed Monday.

Since the conviction of Irwin last fall repeated efforts have been made by members of the man's family to have the sentence shortened and Irwin freed. The state prison commission twice has refused to recommend that the governor act favorably on the clemency petition and several attempts have been made to have the governor act. The last attempt of Irwin's family, friends and counsel resulted in the order signed by Governor Dorsey declining to grant the clemency petition. The governor says the prison board declined to recommend clemency, and he had been through the papers submitted very carefully and could not see his way clear to grant clemency.

Irwin was represented in application for Clemency by Judge Frank Harwell and Attorney Joel B. Mallett.

It has been said by the state's attorney that Mrs. Irwin has refused to sign the clemency petition for Irwin's release.

$52,890 IS RAISED FOR AD CLUB FUND

Additional $10,000 Will Be Sought as a "Safety Margin" to Bring World Convention Here in 1921.

With $2,890 above the minimum of $50,000 which was to be raised to bring the 1921 convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to Atlanta, having been obtained from more than 300 contributors, the Atlanta Advertising club announced at its meeting Thursday an additional $10,000 would be raised as a "safety margin." The national advertising organization meets in Indianapolis in June.

Enthusiasm was evinced at the luncheon over the fact that the $50,000 was oversubscribed through the personal efforts of the officers and members of the ad club and without any of the "drive" features.

W. R. C. Smith Praised.

Several speakers of the occasion were strong in their praise of W. R. C. Smith, director general of the movement to bring the convention to Atlanta, who has devoted virtually all of his time for the last several weeks to the cause of preparing the campaign to "sel" Atlanta to the advertising world, and convince the 167 ad clubs of the United States that Atlanta is the logical place for the 1921 gathering.

Philadelphia, represented at the national convention by the Poor Richard club of that city, has wired indorsement of Atlanta's claims for the convention. Aside from the obvious value of the support of this large club of advertising men, the indorsement is considered important in that the action sets a precedent for the Philadelphai organization, which has heretofore sent its delegations to the annual conventions uninstructed as to the votes they shall cast for the ensuing year's meeting place.

Members Hear Soule.

The principal speaker of Thursday's luncheon at the Kimball house was Roy F. Soule, former editor of The Hardware Age, and now vice president of A. C. Penn, Inc., of New York. Mr. Soule is enthusiastic in his expressions of confidence in Atlanta's successful attempt to get the convention, and said in his address that every Atlantan should go to Indianapolis prepared to advertise the city and without any "inborn fear" of defeat.

Announcement was also made that the annual meeting of the Ad club would be Thursday night, May 27, at 6:30 o'clock, in the breakfast room of the Kimball house.

The members present at the Thursday meeting passed a resolution indorsing the move now on foot to provide a municipal golf course for the city, and in the resolution urged all possible details to be eliminated from the process.

The advertising film, "Down Through the Ages," was exhibited at the meeting through the courtesy of Harry Levey, of the Universal Film company.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR S. A. CAMPAIGN

Collection of Home Service Fund Will Be Conducted Along Business Lines Under Col. Gentry's Leadership.

Announcement that Colonel W. T. Gentry has agreed to act as chairman of the Salvation Army's home service fund campaign in Atlanta, has created enthusiasm among those who are active in the work. The plan of the campaign makes it one of the most unique undertakings ever inaugurated in this city.

The appeal will not be in the nature to a drive. The plans contemplate a campaign laid out along business lines that will work little or no hardship on the men who have been active in such movements.

An executive committee of seven will be named, and these men will be asked to meet the chairman each day for perhaps fifteen minutes, unless their personal business prevents them. A committee of one will be appointed for each corporation and large business concern, and requests for subscriptions will be handled in accordance with the wishes of those in charge of such business enterprises.

"Everyone realizes the necessity for the Salvation Army to have funds," said Colonel Gentry, "and we are sure that there will be a response far beyond our expectations, without the necessity of a drive. Thus we will not expect the men and women of the city to give up a week of time to the matter. We are sure that all will give some assistance, because this is not a cause that must be 'sold' to the public. The good the SalvationArmy is doing in this community daily is well known."

Colonel Gentry made a remarkable success of collecting the subscriptions of one of the largest Red Cross drives in this section, and the executive ability he applied to that work will be devoted entirely to the present efforts of the Salvation Army.

At noon today a number of prominent men will meet Colonel Gentry at luncheon, at which time he will outline definitely the plans he has in mind and seek their suggestions and advice.

BRITISH OPERATIVES GIVEN WAGE INCREASE

Manchester, England, May 6.—The wage dispute in the cotton trade, which involved 400,000 operatives, has been settled. The operatives have been granted an increase of 28½ per cent on the current wages, with an additonal 10 per cent to male card room workers. The agreement is to last twelve months.

Teachers' Exams. Today.

Beginning this morning at 8:30 o'clock an examination is to be held today and Saturday for all grade teachers, both white and colored, at present employed in the Atlanta public schools who have not qualified for permanent places in the city system. The examination for the white teachers is being conducted at the Girls' High school building by R. C. Little, assistant superintendent of schools, while the one for the colored teachers is being held at the Young Street school, E. L. Harper, principal of the negro night school, in charge.

Rogers' Assailant Held.

W. W. Rogers, a former county policeman of Atlanta, who, it is reported, was assaulted and beaten by C. P. Means several months ago, so that he was not expected to live, has written The Constitution from Charleston, S. C., that Means was tried Saturday before Judge Whaley and bound over to the higher courts, charged with assault with intent to murder.

Alabama Editors Fight Injunction On Race Question

false and without the slightest foundation any allegation that The Mobile Register or its publisher.

Mobile, Ala., May 6.—Branding as Frederick I. Thompson, was engaged in a conspiracy to publish any information with regard to the race question in the Alabama senatorial race, The Register has filed answer to the injunction proceedings issued by the circuit court of Birmingham last Sunday at the instance of certain labor leaders. In its answer The Register asks for dissolution of the injunction, which restrained The Register as well as several other state papers from publishing any information with regard to the resolution adopted by citizens of Monroe county, Alabama, making allegations that labor unions sought social equality between the races.

The answer declares that the publisher did learn of certain resolutions before the convention of the Alabama Federation of Labor, in session here last May, which were construed as "an assault upon the franchise laws of Alabama." The answer further declares that a committee of the convention embodied in a report the statement that "some plans be made at this convention to be introduced in the next legislative session to make every man a legal voter in the state of Alabama," the respondent reciting in the answer that this information was communicated to the chairman of the state democratic executive committee, but characterizes as false any charge that The Register or its publisher entered into any conspiracy to publish the article enjoined by the court.

Concluding, the answer states that The Register and its publisher is a firm believer in white supremacy, politically and otherwise, and declares that for the respondent to be brought to a "distant part of the state to answer a false allegation is unjust and oppressive and an outrageous abuse of the right of citizens to seek redress in the courts."

The labor leaders charged in their application for the injunction that an advertisement prepared by the campaign managers for Senator Underwood sought to convey the impression that union labor in Alabama was favorable to social equality between the white and negro races.

It was against the publiction of this advertisement that the injunction was directed.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Dr. Lewis, Who

Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind, could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted said, "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them." The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. It is sold in this city by all leading druggists, including Jacobs' Pharmacy Co.—(adv.)

CHILD IS CONVICTED OF MURDER ATTEMPT

Lyerly, Ga., May 6.—Alexander Potter, 15-year-old Summerville high school student, was convicted in the superior court today of attempted murder of his teacher, Prof. Wyatt Ransom, and sentenced to six years in the state reformatory.

Young Potter, expelled from school last Thursday, went to his home, secured his father's revolver and returning to the school grounds fired six shots at Professor Ransom. He entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Moses Wright.

THREE OFFICIALS NAMED IN DEKALB SECOND PRIMARY

Decatur, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—A comparatively heavy vote was cast in the DeKalb county second primary held today, which was necessitated by the fact that in the first primary on April 20, three races for county offices were undecided.

The two highest candidates ran Thursday, and the results were as follows: W. H. Bond deefated M. D. Googer for tax receiver; R. E. Carroll defeated A. S. Howell for county school superintendent, and C. H. Talley defeated O. O. Day for tax collector.

ATLANTA BOY HURT IN BICYCLE CRASH

Ralph Hood, aged 12 years, of 166 Venable street, was painfully injured Thursday night, about 8:30 o'clock, in an accident in Luckie street opposite the Cecil hotel. He was riding a bicycle, according to his statement, attempted to dodge an automobile and ran into a parked one at the side of the street. He fell from his wheel, and his left thigh struck the bumper of the car. He was taken to his home.

METHODISTS PLAN TO LIMIT POWERS OF THEIR BISHOPS

Des Moines, Iowa, May 6.—An effore will be made at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here, to limit the powers of the bishops of the church by requiring them to nominate candidates for district superintendents of the church and allow the annual conference to confirm the nominations, it became known today. Should the annual conference refuse to confirm a selection, the bishop would be expected to nominate another person. The matter is receiving spirited discussion in the committee on itinerary and will probably be reported out of committee within a few days.

In an address at the evening session, President Hough, of Northwestern University, made a plea for an adequate salary for public school teachers. He spoke on the subject "Methodism and the Intellectual life," urging intellectual freedom in educational institutions.

The committee on state of church has voted to report favorably a resolution which would instruct the conference officials to send to the president of the United States and congressmen a paragraph from the address of the bishops relating to the league of nations, and which practically indorsed a league as a guardian of world peace.

The greater part of today's session was devoted to presentation of reports.

BONUS BILL PASSAGE BECOMES IMPERILED

House Hears Five Speeches Against Measure in Two Successive Days.

By Hudson Hawley.

Washington, May 6.—With five speeches against the soldiers' bonus bill made in the house in two successive days, with both party whips reporting an ever-increasing sentiment among their cohorts against at least the grant of a cash bonus, and with the certainty that at least three members of the senate finance committee are ready to put the bill to death should it pass the lower chamber, it begins to look as though the advocates of the grant to veterans had not only failed to take their first objective on scheduled time, but as though the counter-attack them permanently, dislodge them permanently.

In fact, some members of the ways and means committee, who lost out in the republican caucus in their attempt to have the bonus money raised by a retail sales tax, go so far as to say that not only is the cash bonus proposition dead, but that there probably will be no bonus legislation of any sort this session of congress.

Representatives Treadway, of Massachusets, and McKeown, of Oklahoma, sounded off for the anti-bonus drive today on the house floor. Said Treadway:

"The taxpayers want to be more than liberal with the wounded and disabled men of the service, but I warn you that the majority of them will not favor distributing $2,000,000,000 of their money among men most of whom are in better condition than when they went to war.

"This country cannot stand more taxation. It is not the part of loyalty to ask that the treasury be further burdened, and I believe that when the service men realize the situation, they will withdraw their demands. At the core they are loyal and do not want to further deplete production and inflate prices.

"I am unalterably opposed to the cash bonus and the increased consumption taxes proposed. I have often stated that I believe one wise plan is paid-up insurance, but I believe even that should be delayed."

Representative McKeown declared the legislation would discourage economy and industry and send prices up much higher, adding:

"My suggestion is that this whole matter be delayed until government finances are in a much better condition. We might adjust compensation for the service men when the foreign nations begin to pay their interests, but it certainly is an unwise step to do anything now."

LEVER FOOD MEASURE UPHELD BY U. S. JUDGE

Jackson, Miss., May 6.—Judge Edwin Holmes, of the federal court, here today upheld the constitutionality of the Lever food control act, by refusing to issue an injunction restraining T. J. Locke, federal fair price commissioner for Mississippi, from enforcing observance of fair price lists. The injunction was sought by R. E. Kennington, a local department store proprietor.

In a special charge to the grand jury, Judge Holmes gave an interpretation of the Lever act in which he declared that the law of supply and demand, and not price lists or "profit margins fixed by any committee or agency of the government," should be considered in alleged cases of profiteering.

In refusing to grant the restraining order applied for by Mr. Kennington, Judge Holmes based his decision on section 267 of the judicial code, which provides that suits in equity shall not be sustained in any court of the United States where an adequate and complete remedy may be had at law.

Addressing the grand jury, Judge Holmes said:

"The test of reasonableness must be applied to all regulations and orders issued to carry out the act and any regulation requiring the seller to disregard the real market value of the article, and to sell at the original price paid therefor, plus an arbitrary fixed percentage as profit, is unreasonable and void, as in many cases such regulations would confiscate property rights which have become fixed and vested.

"The law of supply and demand must govern. No human law can make water run uphill. No criminal prosecution can prevent the play of economic laws which have been in force ever since the markets of the world were established, nor has congress intended to deal with anything except the abuses and fraudulent practices which have been too frequent—offshoot of conditions over which no one individual has control."

BOLSHEVIK ARMIES DESTROYED BY POLES

Berne, May 6.—Reports that two Russian bolsheviki armies have been routed and virtually destroyed in the course of the Polish-Ukrainian offensive against Kiev, seem to be confirmed by dispatches received here. Reports, which are taken with some reserve, indicate the soviet forces have been forced back to the outskirts of the city.

Battling for Kiev.

Warsaw, May 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fighting between the Poles and bolsheviki for possession of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, continues day and night. In the entire semi-circle of the Kiev bridgehead the Polish infantry is in contact with the bolshevik infantry.

The Poles are slowly pushing back the enemy in the face of machine gun and artillery resistance.

Polish cavalry, operating in the offensive against the bolsheviki, have occupied Skvira, in the Polish thrust toward the Dnelper.

Skvira, which lies fifty miles east of Berditchev, and is about sixty miles southwest of Kiev, was a bolshevik stronghold, protected by works along the nearby river and on the hills.

Today's Polish communique announces that the two red divisions which were cut off from the retreating bolshevik army last week, were annihilated.

HIGH COST OF SOUP PROBED BY CHICAGO

Chicago, May 6.—The high cost of soup will be the first object of investigation of the newly created high cost of living committee of city council, Max Adomowski, chairman, said today. The meagerness of pie slices and the thinly sliced ham in sandwiches would be the next things inquired about, Adomowski said.

ANTHRAX KILLS THREE WORKERS IN HAIR FACTORY

Chicago, May 6.—Three deaths from anthrax, two reported by the coroner and one by the county hospital, were being investigated today by Health Commissioner Robertson following discovery that all three victims were employees of the Chicago Curled Hair company, manufacturers of automobile cushion stuffing.

The factory of the company was ordered closed pending investigation of whether the anthrax germ was imparted in the raw hair.

Officers of the company say their raw material comes from domestic sources and from imports from the Argentine. Five per cent of the total is imported.

Leopold Krzemien, the last victim who died Tuesday, had been sick only a few hours. Health department officials are searching the records for two other cases of the disease, said to have occurred during the last few months.

Bernard Horwich, president of the hair company, said today that the case was the first he had heard of in twenty-five years in the business. Anthrax, he said, was a sheep disease and the company handled no sheep wool.

Dr. Robertson said the germs could be transmitted by the hair of other animals.

PUTS AIR TO WORK

Burn Cheaper Fuel—Get More Power

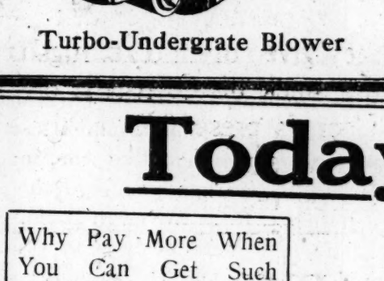

In the Hotel Oliver, South Bend, Indiana, a Sturtevant Turbo-Undergrate Blower, in a special test, raised a 150 horse-power boiler to 309 horse-power. This 206% of increased power was reached on coke breeze.

STURTEVANT Turbo-Undergrate Blowers were designed in accordance with the Sturtevant principle of putting air to work. These compact units are built like every other Sturtevant product—strong, rugged, and capable of doing more work than other makes with the same ratings. During the past sixty years many manufacturers have found that the extra strength and longer life of Sturtevant machinery are a paying investment.

Sturtevant Turbo-Undergrate Blowers secure the advantages of mechanical draft at small expense. Cheaper grades of fuel can be burned, yet the boilers will generate greater pressure than formerly. These small units increase the flexibility of boilers, enabling a plant to easily meet peak loads.

An installation of Sturtevant Turbo-Undergrate Blowers is only a matter of hours. No costly equipment lies idle when the load is light. This form of mechanical draft is intended for boilers ranging from 50 H.P. to 400 H.P.

A Sturtevant representative will gladly tell you about the savings these undergrate blowers effect. Write, phone, or wire for him.

Majestic Smokeater Hotel Range

Don't miss the opportunity to visit our store this week while Mr. W. C. Duke, head of the Majestic Hotel Equipment Factory, is with us to show you the splendid line of Majestic goods.

For Hotels, Restaurants and Boarding Houses

We have just installed one of these elegant Smokeater Majestic Ranges in the Daffodil Tea Room, 111 N. Pryor street.

The Majestic SMOKEATER is the last word in Hotel Ranges. It's the practical range for particular cooks. Soon pays for itself in fuel and labor saving.

Perfect combustion attained by feeding superheated air into the top of firebox—gets all the heat from all the fuel.

ONE FIRE BOX heats, one, two or three ovens as needed, or if no ovens are used, all the heat can be converted to the entire top, including the overhang—giving 25% more heating surface than any other range of same size.

In fifteen minutes' time this range can be converted into a gas range, by attaching the Majestic Gasaver Burner. The principle of heating the ovens and tops is the same as when using coal. It heats the entire Range, TOP AND OVENS, with the same amount of gas it would take to heat ovens alone in an ordinary Range. Besides the saving in gas you have entire COOKING TOP of range to work on instead of a small space over each burner.

We will guarantee that there is no other range on the market burning either gas, wood or coal, that will equal the Majestic Smokeater in quality, economy or ease of operation or durability.

Specifications, blue prints and prices furnished.

The Majestic Factory make in their own plant Hotel Ranges, all sizes, single, double, battery and center type for wood, coal or gas.

LEAGUE TO PROVE BIG 'LIVE CORPSE'

Promises to Be About the Liveliest "Dead" Issue That Ever Haunted Political Conventions—G. O. P. to Get the First Shot at It.

By Robert J. Bender.

Washington, May 6.—The league of nations, reported "dead" from time to time during the last year and emphatically renounced as a possible party issue by leaders, both republican and democratic, promises to be about the liveliest corpse that ever haunted political conventions, when June rolls around.

What it will look like as a campaign issue after the respective republican and democratic conventions get through with it, no one can say today. But if it survives the jostling and cruising in store for it at Chicago and San Francisco, it will have won its claim as something worth fighting over during the summer campaign.

First Crack for G. O. P.

The republican party will have first crack at it when the convention meets at Chicago. There it will figure prominently not only in the battle over platform planks, but also in the fight around the nominee. For there are two sharp and distinct alignments in the republican party on the subject. There is the group headed by Senators Johnson, Knox and Borah—all of them potential candidates for the nomination—who will have none of the league at all, will demand a plank in the platform denouncing the league and fight for a nominee who will oppose it as an issue in the campaign. Opposed to this group is that headed by former President Taft, Elihu Root, Will Hays and many other republican leaders, who have staunchly supported a league and declared that a majority of the party favored some such international arrangement. They will demand a platform plank advocating an organization to preserve peace and a nominee who will not embarrass the party at the polls by an unequivocal stand against a league.

Knox Address Discussed.

But Senator Knox sounded a note in his address yesterday which today is being discussed as a possible compromise offering for the platform, even as Knox may be the compromise offering for the nomination. Knox declared for immediate peace with Germany with the establishment of an international court to promote peace.

This would be in line with the republican pronouncement on the subject of a league in its platform of 1916. The plank read:

"We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose."

Thus far there has been no middle ground suggested upon which the two opposite poles of the democratic party might unite on the league. The reason for this is that the president will insist upon the league covenant as drawn at Versailles with such "interpretative" reservations as will not in any way renounce America's obligations. He would be content with nothing less because to do so would be to admit the failure of his work in France. And, if he can help it, the democratic party in convention at San Francisco can stand for nothing less without repudiating his leadership.

The president, when he speaks on the subject, as he will before long, will reopen the big fight around the league idea, both within the republican and within the democratic ranks.

About a Third Party.

The fight will move immediately into the two party conventions and its outcome in these will largely determine the identity of the respective nominees, whether or not there wil lbe a sharp enough alignment between the two parties to make the league the foremost issue of the campaign, and whether, perchance, theer will come forth a third party this year. The last named possibility is generally doubted by leaders in both parties, though the hope is strong among democrats that the republicans will so act as to force Senator Johnson, or at least many of those following him on the league question, into a new party.

Uncle Joe Cannon, In His 84th Year, Explains Long Life

Washington, May 6.—Uncle Joe Cannon, who is eighty-four years old Friday, has a brief secret for long life and good health.

"Take life as it is and make the best of it," he said. "And work," he added emphatically. "Keeping at work has kept me alive."

Then the former speaker described the usual active day he spends in Washington while congress is in session. Here is the program:

Rises, goes through about five minutes of old-fashioned stretching and gymnastic exercises, and takes a bath. All this about 7 a. m.

Walks to the National Press club for breakfast. Eats what he wants.

Catches a street car for the capitol, arriving usually before 10 o'clock.

Enters his office just off the house floor, reads letters and newspapers, most of the time without glasses. At end all meetings of the appropriations committee, of which he has been a member since he entered the house, in 1872, attends to business connected with pension legislating.

Attends house sessions almost constantly following the opening at noon.

Smokes frequent light Pantella cigars, all at the celebrated 45-degree angle.

Receives frequent visitors.

Goes to the National Press club for dinner, his second meal of the day, then usually plays dominoes or attends a theater. It is late when he returns to his hotel.

Uncle Joe reads one of the kind of books that "reads itself." He admits partiality to blood and thunder yarns.

It is after midnight when he goes to sleep.

Birthday telegrams started coming to Uncle Joe early. He was pleased particularly with a gift from former Senator Chauncey Depew, of New York, a copy of Depew's book, "Speeches and Literary Contributions at Fourscore Years and Four."

A dinner given by Senator Page, of Vermont, for the seven members of congress born before 1844, is one event planned in honor of Uncle Joe's birthday. His family, including his two daughters, two granddaughters and one infant great-granddaughter, has plans to make the day pleasant.

The former speaker came to the house from the Eighteenth (Illinois) district in 1872. He has served continuously except for two terms since.

IMPORTANT PAPERS READ AT SESSION OF STATE DOCTORS

Macon, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—That there is only one physican to every 720 people in the United States, while in the south there is one physician to every 588 people, and that one out of every twenty-six people in the United States was a patient in hospitals during the last year, were rather surprising declarations made before the Georgia Medical association here today, by Dr. E. G. Jones, the president, in his annual address. Dr. Jones stressed the need of medical education and advised that the public should be made acquainted with the different diseases.

Dr. Newton Craig, of Atlanta, addressed the association on "Bronchial Disturbances of Nasal Reflex Origin." Dr. J. C. McDougall, of Atlanta, told of the advantage of the use of gold eyeballs in place of those it is found necessary to remove. Dr. Dunbar Roy, also of Atlanta, discussed the removal of teeth, tonsils and appendix.

Other speakers on today's program included Drs. W. H. Holmes, Frank K. Boland, W. J. Quillian, W. A. Selman and L. W. Grove, all of Atlanta.

The annual banquet of the association was held tonight at the Dempsey, Governor Hugh M. Dorsey being one of the speakers. The convention will come to a close tomorrow with the election of officers and selection of the next meeting place. Rome will probably be awarded the 1921 meeting.

Young Girl Convicted For Killing Step-father; She Also Killed Father

St. Louis, May 6.—Ursula Broderick, 16, who killed her stepfather, Joseph F. Woodlock, in their home here April 14, 1919, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in juvenile court here tonight and her punishmemt fixed at ten years in the Missouri penitentiary.

The jury deliberated an hour and thirty-five minutes. The girl heard the verdict without a trace of emotion, displaying the same indifference that has characterized her behavior since she was first placed on trial for Woodlock's death.

She was sent to a detention home, being unable to furnish bond for $10,000, fixed by Judge Klene, presiding, after her attorney had announced that he would file motion for a new trial tomorrow morning. Judge Klene deferred pronouncing sentence.

The defendant, charged with first degree murder, was said to be the youngest girl who ever faced this charge in a Missouri court. The charge was changed to murder in the second degree by the jury, which in fixing her punishment at ten years gave the lightest sentence permitted for that charge.

It was the third time that the girl was tried for killing Woodlock, whom she shot to death.

She took the stand in her own behalf today and reiterated her former testimony that she killed Woodlock to protect her honor.

The state contended that Woodlock was killed as the result of a plot between the girl and her mother, Mrs. Lillian Woodlock, and that he was shot while asleep. Mrs. Woodlock is under indictment for her husband's death.

In 1916, Ursula shot and killed her father, Thomas P. Broderick, but was exonerated by a coroner's jury when she testified that she fired in defense of her mother, whom, she said, Broderick was beating.

PEACE TREATY IS HIT BY THE KANSAS G. O. P.

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—Eight delegates-at-large to the republican national convention, uninstructed as to presidential preference, were elected by the republican state convention which adjourned late today.

Two of the delegates-at-large and the eight alternates are women. The eight delegates-at-large included one negro man and the eight alternates one negro woman.

Unalterable opposition to the peace treaty, including the covenant of the league of nations "as brought back from Europe with the demand that the senate must advise and consent to its ratification without dotting an 'i' or crossing a 't,'" was voiced in a resolution adopted by the convention of state republicans here today by its committee on resolutions.

The resolutions conclude with a statement "favoring the adoption of a peace resolution by congress."

Other resolutions adopted advocated revision of the scheme of war taxation and pledged support to the movement to obtain compensation for former service men.

JOHNSON'S MAJORITY 159,273 IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, May 6.—Revised returns from 5,363 precincts out of 5,707 in California for the presidential primary last Tuesday give the Johnson group of delegates 363,734 votes and the Hoover group 204,461, a majority of 159,273. This count includes complete returns from twenty-eight of the fifty-eight counties in the state.

WOOD LEADS JOHNSON 5,947 VOTES IN INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 6.—General Wood carried Indiana with a plurality of 5,947 over Senator Hiram Johnson in Tuesday's presidential preferential primary, on the face of complete unofficial returns from the 3,387 precincts of the state. The vote was: Wood, 85,776; Johnson, 79,829; Lowden, 31,118; Harding, 20,819.

Interest already has begun to shift from the primary to the republican state convention next Wednesday and Thursday. The question of whether Indiana's twenty-six delegates to the national convention at Chicago shall go instructed for General Wood because of his plurality or uninstructed, transcends all other conversation now at the political headquarters. The state law provides that only a majority of the votes cast is binding on the delegates.

NO INSTRUCTIONS BY COLORADO G. O. P.

Pueblo, Colo., May 6.—The state republican convention meeting here today elected four uninstructed delegate-at-large to the national convention and elected John F. Vivian, of Golden, national committeeman.

HOW ILLINOIS VOTED ON G. O. P. CANDIDATES.

Springfield, Ill., May 6.—Governor Lowden received a plurality of 80,083 votes over General Wood at the Illinois presidential preferential primary April 13, according to the official totals completed by the state canvassing board today. The totals compiled by the board include the vote cast by both men and women.

Governor Lowden received a total of 236,802 votes, or which 197,073 were cast by men and 39,729 by women. General Wood's total was 156,719, of which 132,522 were men's votes and 24,197 by women.

Senator Hiram Johnson, who ran third on the republican ticket, received 64,201 votes, of which 56,242 were cast by men and 7,959 by women.

Governor Edwards, of New Jersey, led the democratic candidates, with 6,117 men's votes and 816 women's votes, giving a total of 6,933.

RIVER FRONT STRIKE ENDS AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, May 6.—With striking marine clerks and checkers and the longshoremen who quit in sympathy, back at work and the Southern Pacific Steamship line resuming business with non-union labor the river front of New Orleans today for the first time in several months was normally active.

The clerks and checkers, who sought union recognition by the New Orleans Steamship association and an increase of 12 per cent in wages, agreed to return to work and have their cases considered as individuals. Longshoremen, who struck in sympathy, remained out but a few days and then returned.

The Southern Pacific line, idle for two months as a result of strikes here and at New York, resumed operations with non-union labor today and reports tonight were that the new organization being built up at the leased wharves of the company was succeeding.

In this country at present there is a shortage of between 200,000 and 300,000 teachers.

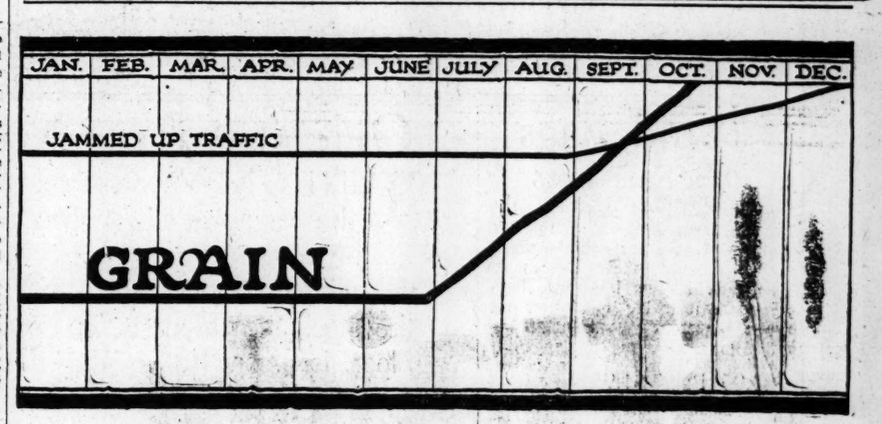

IN THE SPRING-TIME

NY one knows enough to carry an umbrella when it rains, but the wise one is he who carries one when it is only cloudy. Any one will send for a doctor when he gets bedfast, but the wiser one is he who adopts proper measures before his ills become serious. During a hard winter or the following spring one feels rundown, tired out, weak and nervous. Probably you have suffered from cold, Grip or flu which has left you thin, weak and pale. This is the time to put your system in order. It is the time for house-cleaning.

What if you can't get cars?

Seriously overburdened, with a coal, steel and switchmen's strike aggravating the strain until a dammed up flood of freight stagnates the terminals, the railroads are up against it hard.

So will manufacturers be this fall unless they prepare now to ship goods by motor truck when the peak load movement of farm and other products demands the capacity of extra tens of thousands of cars.

Depend on the railroads, now 580,000 freight cars short, and you may have to shut down. Depend on trucks and keep going.

Motor trucks will keep your business alive this fall if you plan now to use them.

GEORGIA SUCCESSFUL IN DEBATE THIS YEAR

Athens, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia has been singularly successful in her intercollegiate debates this year. In her individual debate with Auburn, in which the agricultural department of the university took part, she won the decision. In the triangular debate of Alabama, Vanderbilt and Georgia, Georgia won the decision over both Vanderbilt and Alabama, winning on both sides of the subject.

The debaters from the agricultural college were Woodruff and Brannen, of Winder and Statesboro, respectively. In the debate with Alabama, R. E. L. Spence, of Albany, and W. H. Stephens, of Savannah, represented the university. In the Vanderbilt debate, N. Jolles, of Washington, Ga., and E. W. Highsmith, of Baxley, Ga., represented the university.

HENDERSON URGES GOOD HIGHWAYS TO STOP UNREST

New Orleans, May 6.—That good roads will reduce appreciably the national unrest because, they will facilitate communication and lead to a better understanding and more even distribution, was the contention of Leland J. Henderson, of Columbus, Ga., in an address delivered late today before the annual convention of the Southern Commercial Secretaries' association.

Mr. Henderson, who is secretary-treasurer of the Dixie Overland Highway association, and secretary of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, advocated a system of good roads usable in all kinds of weather, radiating from each city for a distance of 10 miles, and the division of the bordering ands into acre units. Thus, he explained, the city man may, with his automobile, live in the country and produce, on from one to ten acres, a great share of his food necessities. He will even have a surplus to sell or trade for other things, Mr. Henderson stated.

He stated plans now made for highway construction indicate that during the next ten years from ten to twenty billion dollars will be expended for that purpose in the United States.

"Owing to certain well-known conditions," he said, "we can expect little more railway expansion. Therefore, the transportation required for our further development as a nation must come largely from improved highways."

New Bill at Grand Scores Rousing Hit With Clever Turns

By far one of the most diverting and pleasing bills seen in Atlanta in several weeks is at Loews Grand the last half of the week. Each of the five acts scored a rousing hit at the first performance Thursday.

It is safe to say that the sketch of Lew Welsh entitled, "A Prodigal Father," and the remarkable comedy acrobatic turn of Gordon and Germaine were the most popular acts, although it would be hard to select one act as the feature.

From the start, however, when Billie Rose and Blossom Dell offer a little bit of everything from clever comedy dancing to tumbling and trick bicycle riding to the final act the interest of the audience is firmly held.

May Marvin, the ragtime dynamo, sings some clever songs and puts across one song number in wonderful shape. The Imperial Four, rural songsters and jesters, also got a great hand in their repertoire of harmony.

Lew Welch is one of the best character comedians seen at the Grand and is supported by an able company in a breezy little sketch, The Prodigal Father."

The surprise on the bill comes in the last act. Gordon and Germaine, nonsensical tramps, are all that and more. They are the best pair of acrobats seen here in years and both are original and resourceful comedians with splendid new ideas in fun.

The feature picture, "The She Tiger," is an absorbing drama of the Mexican border.

Dustin Farnum.

(At the Forsyth.)

Dustin Farnum in Alexander Dumas' famous drama, "The Corsican Brothers," which opened a three days' engagement at the Forsyth theater Thursday, is one of the finest pieces of screen work this talented star has given the screen in many months.

Viewed from a scenic standpoint, it is a remarkable picture, all the charm and splendor that Dumas wrote into the story is portrayed upon the screen, and all who have read and enjoyed this powerful narrative will enjoy the wonderful characterization that Dustin Farnum puts into the dual role of Fabian Dei Franchi and Louis Dei Franchi, the two brothers who were joined together by a cord of flesh and blood.

Throughout the entire play there is not one dull moment, and the vivid climaxes that made the story a masterpiece of fiction follow close upon one another, and before one realizes it the end has come, and Fabian has avenged his murdered brother and won the woman he loves.

It is truly a stirring story of the days when chivalry reigned, and matters of the heart were settled upon the field of honor. Well worth seeing.

"Bullet Proof."

(At the Tudor.)

The verile romance of the west and the various tales of the outdoors will never grow stale so long as Harry Carey remains to depict them on the screen, and now we have another example of this star's unusual ability in "Bullet Proof," in which he is appearing at the Tudor theater. It is the story of a young man who turns bandit to avenge his father's death, of a strange luck charm which saves him from many perils and of a love which leads him back to the straight path. One of the most thrilling scenes of the production shows Harry Carey in an effort to rescue a girl who is trapped by a landslide. While at his task the whole side of the mountain gives away and both of them are buried as the many tons of dirt and rock move down the slope, uprooting giant trees and sweeping away everything in their path.

"The Woman Gives."

(At the Criterion.)

A vivid contrast, depicting the lives of the "woman who takes" and the "woman who gives" is the interesting theme of the picture "The Woman Gives," in which Norma Talmadge is starring this week at the Criterion theater. Miss Talmadge has another of the tensely dramatic roles in which she is at her best and as the "woman who gives' 'rescues her benefactor from the lowest depths of Chinatown, going alone into the opium den at terrific risk and saving the life and career of the man who had befriended her. Miss Talmadge in the stellar role has full play for her ability to enact emotional parts and with the support of an excellent cast presents what proves to be a very interesting and entertaining picture. Other features on the program are a Mutt and Jeff comedy and a new Fox News.

New Bill at Lyric Provides Pep Plus Melody and Dancing

Pep—plus, with the finest sort of comedy and the most delightful sort of melody and dancing sharing honors, makes the new Keith vaudeville bill which opened at the Lyric yesterday a sparkling affair that would tickle the palate of any connoissuer.

Helen Trix, charming writer of charming songs, with the splendid assistance of her sister, Josephine, took the audience by storm in one of the most thoroughly delightful of offerings.

Fred Jarvis and Frederica Harrison, in a prettily staged comedy called "Lonesome," offer a thoroughly novel bit of fun which was one of the big hits of the bill.

"Four of a Kind," a feminine quartet consisting of Misses Virginia Daly, Peggy O'Hara, Juanita Chefalo and Cecile Holmes, is a strikingly staged singing novelty, breezy and well worth while. The soprano of the quartet has a particularly pleasing voice.

The Percival Girls are novelty dancers whose turn is more than ordinarily entertaining and would be all the more so without the patter they insert toward the close.

Comfort and King present in closing the bill "Coontown Diversions," a vaudeville classic that is nothing less than a scream. Those who leave before the conclusion of the Comfort and King turn will miss a rare bit of fun. The usual popular pictures are shown.

LADY ASTOR PLAYS ROLE OF MARTYR, FOLLOWING ATTACK

By Nina Bancroft.

London, May 6.—Lady Astor is something of a martyr in England today. The attack of Horatio Bottomley in his publication, John Bull, designed to embarrass her ladyship by raking up her divorce from Robert Gould Shaw, has brought a wave of sympathy for her from the public generally.

The reason is attributable jointly to the Britain's love of fair play and lack of sympathy with editorial attacks upon women generally, and to disapproval of Bottomley's customary policies.

I called on Lady Astor today to learn whether she planned to make an answer to Bottomley's attack. She said that she had remained silent on the subject and would continue to do so, at least for the present, but might alter her decision and make a spirited reply to the editor later.

GOV. COOLIDGE KILLS NEAR-BEER MEASURE

Boston, May 6.—Governor Coolidge today vetoed a bill intended to legalize the manufacture and sale of beverages containing not more than 2.75 per cent alcohol in this state.

His veto message said:

"There is little satisfaction in attempting to deceive ourselves, and there is grave danger in attempting to deceive the people. If this act were placed on the statute books today, it would provide no beer for the people."

As the supreme court has yet to speak on the constitutionality of the Volstead act, the governor said, no one would dare act on the state measure if enacted. "Wait until the supreme court talks," he said.

Entertainment Planned.

In the interest of a campaign instituted by the society for a greater membership, the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church will give an entertainment at 8 o'clock tonight at the church. The members, former members, and all interested in the work of the Christian Endeavor movement are invited to attend.

Hundreds See Ku Klux Ghosts In Long Parade

White-Capped Marchers File Through Peachtree and Whitehall on Secret Mission—Maybe.

Ghosts, phantomlike spooks, wearing white flowing robes, grotesque headgear, with peaked tops, and full white masks, walked by the hundreds Thursday night. They appeared on the downtown streets shortly after nightfall and then were whisked away into the unknown from whence they had come as suddenly as they had appeared.

The "apparitions" were members of Klan No. 1, Ku Klux, and they were just strolling over the city preparatory to taking one of their periodical trips to the "moon." They marched and countermarched up and down Whitehall and Peachtree, headed by a brass band.

No one knew their mission, few asked. As the long, white columns passed in review occasionally some one asked one of the unknowns where they were headed for, but no satisfactory reply was forthcoming.

A daredevil young fellow singled out one of the "ghosts" aloof from the white-robed throng, one whose costume was trimmed in blood-red, and throwing all propriety to the breezes, he asked him in an apologetic tone where they expcted to stop. In a muffled voice there came from beneath the mask of the stranger some vague, indefinite murmur about the moon, and the masked man shambled away.

But the spectators were from Missouri, even if many of them had always lived in Atlanta, and knowing that at this time of the year mere mortals can not journey to the moon, even if they are garbed as ghosts, many followed the parade several blocks to see it disband.

The hundreds of marchers quickly took their places in waiting automobiles and specially chartered trolley cars. The curious crowd was disappointed, for the trolleys and automobiles went in many and various directions and the nocturnal mission of the masked strangers was not learned.

Although the exact number of Ku Klux participating in the exhibition is not known, they filled to overflowing nine long trolley cars and fifty-six automobiles.

U. S. Reserve Banks Denounced as Aides To the Profiteers

Washington, May 6.—In urging favorable action on his resolution for investigation of the administration of the federal reserve act, Representative King, republican, Illinois, declared before the house rules committee today that financing by the Federal Reserve banks was allowing commodities to be kept off the market with resultant increase in prices.

As a result of federal reserve loans, Representative King asserted that in New York 70,415,000 pounds of condensed and evaporated milk were being held in storage compared with 8,061,000 pounds a year ago.

THE TREND IN MEXICO.

Indications south from "the border" point to early developments that may completely change the political complexion of Mexico, and that encourage hope for the restoration of peace throughout that unhappy republic which for more than a decade has been torn by revolution and counter revolution.

Readers of The Constitution will recall that last fall, in his series of articles dealing with the Mexican situation, James A. Hollomon, staff correspondent for this newspaper, predicted precisely what is now taking place in that country; that is, a revolution, headed by General Obregon, against the Carranza regime, "in the spring of 1920."

Such a revolution is now under full headway, and Carranza thus far has not manifested strength sufficient to exert even a formidable resistance against it.

Indeed, from the Carranza viewpoint, the situation seems hopeless.

The conservative element that remained neutral as between the Villa revolution and the government, seems to be solidly united under the leadership of Obregon, who is ably assisted by General Gonzales.

Villa, according to recent dispatches, also has joined forces with the Obregon revolution; and many thousands of the federal troops, with a number of Carranza's trusted military commanders, are reported to have deserted the president and gone over to the revolutionist side.

Carranza himself has been advised by his friends and advisers to attempt no resistance against such overwhelming odds, but to yield to discretion as "the better part of valor," surrender the presidency, and, in the vernacular, "get out while the going is good."

But in the face of the hazard that undoubtedly confronts him, the president has expressed himself as preferring to stand firm, with his back to the wall, and make a "last ditch" fight of it if necessary, in the hope that a sufficient number of his troops will remain loyal to enable him to hold the capital until the revolutionary spirit subsides.

Which, on the face of it, appears to be a course more heroic than either wise or discreet.

As for the United States, it apparently has little to fear from a triumph of the Obregon revolution.

Conversely, there are ample reasons upon which to base a hope that such an event would materially hasten the day when more amicable relations would exist between the two republics, and peace and prosperity and happiness in Mexico be restored.

GOLF FOR THE PUBLIC.

The movement to popularize golf in Atlanta by establishing a public golf course at Piedmont park is meritorious from every standpoint, and it should be carried to the fulfillment of its objective.

Than golf there is no more beneficial, universal sport in the world, appealing as it does, to young and old, man and woman, the strong and even the infirm.

According to indisputable records, golf has for centuries built up health and improved the minds and morals of those who have played it. It is a mild exercise, played entirely in God's out-of-doors; a high state of perfection can be attained as well by a boy or a woman, as by an athlete—and anybody, young or old, whose muscles are built up under the influence of mild exercise, fresh air and sunshine, is bound to be more healthful of body and cleanly of thought.

Golf has been, unfortunately, too much in certain sections of America, a game of the well-to-do, whereas, in the very nature of things, it could appeal especially to the masses, where municipalities were far-sighted enough to underwrite the only big expense, which is in establishing the course itself.

With the course to play it upon financed by a municipality, any resident of a city, however humble be his circumstances, could easily afford the few paltry dollars necessary to secure the equipment through which he could take advantage of the improved health sure to follow the playing of this ancient and honored game.

THE TAX-DODGER.

Decision by the board of commissioners of Fulton county to uncover and drag from its hiding place every foot of land and every dollar's worth of property, within the board's jurisdiction, that has heretofore escaped taxation, deserves general commendation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board last Wednesday charges were made to the effect that "the county is losing large sums of money annually by the failure of property owners to return their acreage outside of the city limits of Atlanta for taxation purposes;" and the board's action came in response to those charges.

A system is to be devised whereby the county may "catch" the hidden property and "force the owner to return it for taxation, and, in addition, pay all back taxes due on it."

The board expects in this way to increase the county's revenues "several hundred thousand dollars annually."

The man who fails to return his property for taxation, thus to contribute his full share toward the support of the government that protects him and gives his property its value, is simply a tax-dodger. He is not a good citizen, and deserves to be penalized for his ingratitude to his government and his evasion of the first duty of worthy citizenship.

There is a way to uncover all property that is hidden from the tax-gatherer, and to bring its owners to book; and the county commissioners are to be commended for having taken this matter in hand.

Every dollar that is thus put into the treasury will not only help the county by that much, but proportionately lessen the tax burden of all honest and patriotic and public-spirited tax-payers.

SUGAR FROM SAWDUST.

By a process which he has thus far kept to himself, Robert Hyde, a Pittsburg (Pa.) chemist, claims to be able to extract three-quarters of a pound of sugar from a pound of common sawdust, the cost of production being three and one-half cents a pound for the sugar, if made by hand, or less than half of that amount if made by machinery and on an extensive scale.

Whether or not the sugar thus made is palatable and fit for food the press dispatch announcing Mr. Hyde's alleged discovery does not state, but presumably it is. And if so, the discovery is not only interesting, but opens an almost limitless storehouse of saccharine nourishment for the human family, just at a time when the world's supply is at low ebb and sugar is extremely high in price and hourly ranging still higher.

To the lay mind there seems to be nothing more astonishing about the idea of making sugar from sawdust than about that of making alcohol from wood; and if Mr. Hyde's claims prove genuine and his product is good for table use it will bear out the thought expressed in the old limerick—

"There once was a poor man named Shrewd
Who said 'I'll use sawdust for food;
It's cheap by the ton,
And it nourishes one—
And, sure, that's the main object of food!"

For the sake of candy-loving kiddies, the grown-ups who like their coffee sweetened, and to the human race in general, to which sugar in some form is a dietary necessity of life, it is to be hoped that the Pittsburg chemist's announcement proves not to be a "bloomer," but that of a bona fide, gilt-edge discovery.

If it does, the name of Hyde will quickly become a household word used affectionately the world over, and remembered long after sugar as a by-product of the sawmill shall have ceased to be a novelty.

Says The Columbus Citizen: "The situation will never be hopeless so long as mothers don't strike."

NIGHT'S SECRET

Give me thy secret, sullen, somber Night;
Long have I pondered, waiting on for thee
To utter unknown words and thoughts to me,
Still lingering in the shadows of thy sight.
Art thou the gloomy conqueror of light
That from thy dismal, darkened face doth flee?
Doth not the whitened shafts of light let free
Asunder cut thy shrouds with wond'rous might?
A Queen in palaces of ages, break
The silence thou hast kept from us who wait,
From us who linger in your courtyard, meek,
Who rest beside your darkened palace gate,
Make us thy poets, veil'd Night, who seek
The beauteous in thy scepter's sway
—O speak!

GREATER GREECE

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

New York, May 6.—Amidst all the confusion of San Remo rumors, the fact detaches itself that Venizelos is at last to have his reward and Greece to obtain substantial justice. So far, all reports are in accord that Greece is to obtain the whole of Thrace, Bulgarian as well as Turkish fractions included, and thus occupy the entire region between the Bulgarian frontier and the bases of the Constantinople and Gallipoli peninsulas. In addition she is to receive Smyrna and a substantial hinterland and portions of northern Epirus. What remains a matter of doubt is whether she or Albania will have Korityza.

Put into figures this means that Greece will obtain in Europe new territories having an area of approximately 12,000 square miles, a little less than the combined areas of Massachusetts and Connecticut and a population in round numbers amounting to 1,000,000 at the last census. But the last census was taken more than a decade ago, under Turkish rule, and is notoriously inexact. In addition three wars have passed over this country since this numbering and swept away large percentages of the inhabitants, while changes of rulers—portions of Thrace have been Turkish, Greek, Bulgarian and are now to be Greek again all in the span of eight years—have produced much migration voluntary and involuntary alike.

In Asia the Smyrna grant, despite its rather grudging limitations, will give Greece approximately 5,000 square miles with a population of much more than 500,000, Hellenic in majority. Thus Greece emerges from the last trial a state with an area of rather more than 60,000 square miles, having a population of approximately 6,500,000. She is, then, in area more than half as large as Italy, in population somewhat smaller than Belgium.

A quarter of a century ago, when Venizelos came from Crete to begin his great work, Greece, just beaten in a Turkish war, was a state with a population of less than 2,500,000 living on a territory of some 25,000 square miles. Athens, with the Piraeus, was the single considerable city, railway communications were totally inadequate, Greece was isolated from the rest of Europe and order within the boundaries was entirely lacking. By the Turkish war Greece had lost the sympathy of Europe and her dynasty had lost all domestic regard.

From the moment of his arrival and for nearly two decades thereafter, Venizelos applied himself to the task of domestic reorganization. Not until 1912 was he ready to pursue his larger objectives. But in these years he had regained for Greece the sympathy of the world and he had also achieved the impossible in establishing an alliance between Serbia, Bulgaria and Greece against the Turk. The result of this alliance was the First Balkan war with its swift overthrow of Turkish power in Europe, to which Greek armies contributed honorably.

In the negotiations which followed victory, Venizelos displayed real statesmanlike moderation, but Bulgaria, spurning all proposals, attacked Serbia and Greece. Bulgarian defeat resulted in a new division of territories at Bukharest and in this division Greece obtained some 2,300,000 people, the regions about Janina, Salonica and Kavala, together with the great city of Salonica. Only Italian jealousy prevented her from obtaining her full deserts on the Albanian side.

In the world war Constantine nearly spoiled the results of Venizelos' labors and just missed enlisting Greece on the German side. But in the end Venizelos saved his country and rendered the allies valuable services. At Paris he was one of the conspicuous figures and it was recognized that Greek claims would be honored on his account. Unhappily President Wilson was not sympathetic with Greece and the Greek case was adjourned.

By the later decision at San Remo, Greece is now to add Smyrna, and Adrianople to Salonica. Holding Salonica and Smyrna, as well as her original part of the Piraeus, she becomes once more the great commercial power of the Aegean, regains a position which was Hellenic in the first days of Greek greatness and again in the period of the empire. Moreover the extension of the Orient railway, from Salonica southward, has brought Athens in direct rail communication with Europe and given new importance to the Piraeus as the southern end of the European railway systems.

Still Venizelos has work to do. To realize Greek ambitions Constantinople must be regained and it seems clear that the present Constantinople is to be occupied by allied troops, to be in some fashion a British possession. By acquiring Thrace, however, Greece closes the approach of any land power to the Golden Horn and nothing seems more likely than that in due course of time Greek claims will be recognized and after nearly six centuries a Greek ruler will return to Byzantium.

In the Aegean Italy still holds Greek islands, the Dedecanesus and Rhodes, while in the eastern Mediterranean Great Britain retains Cyprus. But Britain offered Cyprus to Greece in 1915 and there seems to be a growing willingness in London to repeat the generosity of the last century, when Corfu and the adjoining islands were bestowed upon Greece by the British government of that hour.

It is different with Italy, which resents Greek development and sees in Greece a future rival in the Near East. This explains the pessimistic tone of Nitti's recent interview. But both in northern Epirus and in the Aegean islands Italian policy conflicts with right and justice and there is small reason to doubt that in the end the Greek solution will prevail. Certainly to deny Greece the Aegean islands would be to sin against every known rule of international right.

In less than a quarter of a century Venizelos has doubled the area of his country, restored it to a position in the Near East lost by the Byzantine empire seven centuries ago and lost by classical Greece with the collapse of the empire of Alexander the Great. This work is still to be completed, but Venizelos survives and the foundations are solidly laid. Next year Greece will celebrate her centenary of independence and the anniversary will see not only a greater Greece, but a Greek nation capable of becoming in the future not only politically, but commercially a great factor in the Near East. To Venizelos Greece owes this achievement. Since Cavour died Europe has known no national reconstructor to rival the great Cretan.

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, May 6.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: A dark brooding sky. A great day for the umbrella thieves. There's Josef Urban, the great colourist. Father of eleven children. No wonder he is so serious looking. Quiet terraced home is a haven for decayed soaks. Has a sound proof room for those with the horrors. Wonder how I'd look in overalls.

Something profoundly touching about an old woman selling newspapers. And yet they seem so cheerful. Here's Chatham Square on the fringe of Chinatown and the Bowery. There are some tough faces lounging in doorways. All the young men wear caps. And roll their own cigarettes. Pack peddlers thrive down here. They never come uptown.

Girls from the land of waterlilies. Hair heavily oiled and eyes that are grave. Many will marry white men—the no account wrecks and wastrels of the Chinese quarter. The printers setting type in the window of the Chinese morning daily. There's a job for you! Think I'll mosey out of this neighborhood. I'm not frightened, but I've got others dependent upon me.

City Hall Park: The man who has the shoe shining privileges at the entrance of Brooklyn bridge makes $50,000 a year. The park benches full of young clerks. The mayor's car parked in a "Keep off the Grass" plot. There's Perry's drug store in the World building. Every newspaper man knows "Doc" Perry. He used to have some choice prescriptions before—whatever the date was of the great drought.

Under the bridge it sounds like a terrible thunderstorm. Old-fashioned shops. There's a wooden cigar store Indian. And a window full of terrible paper back novels. And clay pipes. Foot mats. Was whatnots for the parlor. Old bodies who have their heads wrapped in knitted affairs sit in the doorways. The stoops are of wood. Dingy little eating places. Hear them frying fish out in the street. The air is dank and there is an eerie smell of fresh earth. A great place for local color.

The poor we have with us always, but New York now has a new kind of poor—the respectable "new poor," if you please. My idea of a poor person in New York has always been the same. I always thought of a spindly legged child picking bits of food out of a garbage pail in a tumble down street. It must have come from some cartoonist.

But there seems to be no poor of that kind these days. Those who have watched the currents of the social tide-rip for the past year say the character of the flotsam has been altered. The new poor now consists of the more salaried and professional men and women. They are now the biggest borrowers at the Provident Loan society—which is known as the poor man's bank.

The mechanic and laborer rarely calls for a loan now. Instead come the clerks, teachers, the small merchant and baker, bookkeeper and others of those who constitute the so-called middle and upper classes. Pawn shops say that the bulk of their business now comes from those who spurned such institutions before the rent profiteer and others of his ilk got in their deadly work.

One of the most beautiful estates within an hour's motoring of Manhattan is "Burkeley Crest," the country home of Billie Burke, the actress. It is located on a beautiful rise on the edge of Hastings on the Hudson and there is a beautiful panorama of the shimmering Hudson with the dull, majestic Palisades for a background. Miss Burke's estate spreads out over hundreds of rolling acres. A stone fence surrounds it. The home sits on the knob of a hill. There are massive greenhouses, magnificently kept lawns on all sides, gravel pathways and roads winding in and out ribbon like—the whole, a contribution toward the esteem she holds in the hearts of American audiences.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Hygiene and Tuberculosis.

The big noise made by hired workers who undertook to teach the public all about the "great white plague" has dwindled appreciably in the past few years and more thoughtful students are finding an opportunity to check up on the results of all that deplorable sideshow business.

It appears that the death rate per thousand population from tuberculosis has been steadily decreasing for over a hundred years, here in America. The death rate was on the decline for three generations before the cause of tuberculosis was discovered. In the twenty years immediately preceding the nation-wide educational campaign (including ten years preceding the discovery of the tubercle bacillus) the decrease in the death rate was 27.5 according to Dr. George Thomas Palmer, of Springfield, Ill. In the twenty years following the establishment of the first volunteer tuberculosis association (for educational work) the death rate from tuberculosis decreased 30.5, which would seem to suggest that the "great white plague" howlers had done some good in the world. But let us remember that statistics have a way of lying in spite of every care, and that the diagnosis and reporting of tuberculosis cases have contributed much toward the reduction of death rates, and these factors do not depend upon public health education.

As Dr. Palmer points out, living conditions have steadily improved in the past hundred years. Means of cleanliness, sewage disposal, water supply, safe milk and better supervision of food supplies have contributed toward better health and better resistance, and hence toward a reduction in the death rate from tuberculosis.

Most important of all, perhaps, though Dr. Palmer does not say so, is the fact that the people have gradually discarded the more vicious of their delusions regarding fresh air and exposure. It was when "night air" was carefully excluded from the sleeping rooms that tuberculosis reaped its greatest harvest. It is in such institutions as Rollier's sunbath hospital at Leysin, Switzerland, and the famous J. N. Adam Memorial hospital established by Dr. John Pryor at Perrysburg, N. Y., that the least fear of exposure prevails and the most remarkable cures of tuberculosis are brought about. At Perrysburg, as at Leysin and elsewhere, children run about playing on the snow on winter days, with nothing but shoes and breechcloth on, which would be enough to give Sairey Gamp, experienced nurse, heart failure.

Man was not built for indoor or cave life. He is constituted to absorb and utilize the energy of sunlight. Coop him up the better part of every day in a modern cave and you cannot help reducing his resistance to tuberculosis. The death rate from tuberculosis has decreased as rapidly as the catching cold delusion has diminished among the people.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Bow Legs and Rickets.

What is the difference between bow legs and rickets? What causes rickets and what is the cure? (R. E. J.)

ANSWER—Rickets is a disease characterized by defective nutrition of every tissue of the body, including the blood (which is a liquid tissue) and producing, as one conspicuous effect, more or less bony deformity—as of the spine, the chest, the skull, the legs. It has always been known that infants fed with most substitutes for fresh milk are prone to suffer rickets. There is now some reason to believe that this is attributable to the utter absence of vitamines in such substitutes. Bow legs are sometimes a result of rickets, though more frequently rickets causes a forward bending of the shin bones. Fresh milk, fresh cereal gruels, fresh fruit juices, fresh vegetable soups, fresh meat broths and cod liver oil are our best remedies for rickets, save that open air and sunshine are powerful aids to recovery. Cod liver oil, like the fat of milk, is rich in vitamine. An infant must have live fat in its food, not to make the infant obese, but to supply the indispensable vitamines.

Lunacy.

We are told that the baby should be weaned by a certain sign of the moon. Will you please tell us by what sign, and also give any other information you may have along this line? (G. B.)

ANSWER—Watch the moon carefully from the birth of the baby, and when it has made ten complete circuits of this gullible old world, wean the baby. The term lunacy refers to Luna, the moon. Keep away from clairvoyants and fortune-tellers when the moon shines, and avoid the Saireygamps when she shines not. Now quit your nonsense and send a stamped envelope addressed to yourself for a letter of advice about when and how to wean the baby.

Dr Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. $10,000 FOR CITY SWIMMING POOLS WILL BE SOUGHT

City council will be requested at its meeting Monday, May 17, to appropriate $10,000 to maintain public swimming pools at Piedmont, Grant, Maddox and Moseley parks. A resolution for an appropriation is to be introduced by Councilman Charles T. Bailey, ex-officio member of the park commission. Without this fund, it is said, the pools may not be able to run this summer, as the commission itself declares it has no money for this purpose. The resolution also will contain a provision for the payment of a charge of 10 cents by all children over 14 years of age who use the city pools.

Coagulating Basin Will Give Atlanta Much Purer Water

General Manager W. Zode Smith, of the municipal water department, announced yesterday that the new coagulating basin has been completed at the Hemphill pumping station, as a result of which the total capacity of the coagulating basins has been increased from 7,000,000 gallons to 13,800,000 gallons, or nearly double the present capacity. This means, Mr. Smith declared, that Atlanta will from now on have the purest water it ever has had, and the needs will be met for years to come, it is expected.

The new basin makes the fifth at the station, and was constructed at a cost of $150,000, of which the city paid $100,000 and Fulton county $50,000. It has been under construction since 1918. These basins receive water from the reservoir and purify it before it goes into the filters.

WORKING ON RATES TO SOUTHERN PORTS

Greensboro, N. C., May 6.—Representatives of the chambers of commerce of Charleston and Greenville, S. C.; Goldsboro, Fayetteville, Wilson, High Point and Greensboro, N. C., met here today with Matthew Hale, president of the South Atlantic States' association, to work out a plan to insure the establishment of equitable freight rates affecting the commerce of the ports of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Resolutions were adopted demanding a revision of domestic freight rates, alleged to be discriminatory and the establishment of fair rates between southeastern ports and the northeast and middle west. The conference this afternoon is perfecting plans to form a working organization to fight for their objectives.

Today's Talk

SINCERITY OF VISION.

The real thinker analyzes—and constructs.

To get a wholesome viewpoint, you must be sincere in your vision. You must look into the heart and meaning of things. You must see honesty in purposes and burn all dross from intentions.

The deep thinker is always the simple thinker.

No matter how poor or mean in bodily substance, there is in the rough of every human this fine fact—that he is sincere at his heart.

Great nature has brought this to pass.

By looking into things, by knowing that everything whether great or small, is enveloped in rightness, you are made to emphasize to every passer-by, as well as to yourself, that you are no unimportant person.

Through the moments do you think and walk and work. They are to you the very nourishment of your soul.

Out from a clean heart do the wonders of sincere vision gush—as the water from the spring which some noble mountain feeds.

Let us not accept in careless meditation "what God hath wrought." Is not the milk which we drink but the green grass from fields, made usable for us by the faithful cow? Our beautiful works of art, our lovely furnishings, our books, the very carpets under our feet—is it possible to name anything which may not be melted back to the fields of nature?

In sober reflection can we afford to wend our way.

The test of a sincere vision is the test of understanding.

FUND FOR FREE MILK WILL BE COLLECTED

The free milk fund which is used to buy milk for sick and undernourished babies, will be collected at the door of the churches Sunday morning, "Mothers' Day." Committees from the Girl Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls will make the collection, working with a committee from the City Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. Francis Block, chairman.

More than $700 was collected on Mothers' Day last year, this money furnishing fresh milk to fifteen little ones whose mothers were unable to buy milk for them. The city doctors and nurses report to the milk fund committee the children who need the milk, and in that way only the needy and worthy cases are beneficiaries of the fund.

DR. EMERSON TO OPEN SCHOOL OF NUTRITION

To open a school for the instruction of workers and mothers in nutrition, Dr. W. R. P. Emerson, of Boston, Mass., well-known authority on dietetics, will be in Atlanta next week. He will deliver one talk while here, which will be open to the public. This school will be held under the auspices of the southern division of the American Red Cross at the headquarters on the corner of Ivy and Baker streets. About 60 women from all parts of the south will be in attendance.

RAINWATER TO APPEAR IN COCA-COLA HEARING

C. V. Rainwater, secretary and treasurer of the Coca-Cola Bottling company, with offices in the Candler building, has been subpoenaed to appear before a court commissioner next Tuesday to give testimony relative to the affairs of the bottling company. The subpoena was served on Secretary Rainwater at the instance of the Coca-Cola company, against which the two parent bottlers have brought suit in the Fulton superior court.

FORECAST FOR CITY IS COOL AND CLOUDY

Cool and cloudy weather is the promise C. F. von Herrmann, official weather forecaster, awards Atlanta and vicinity for Friday and the next day or so.

The probability of light showers occasionally is also included in Mr. von Herrmann's prediction, with the further information that weather conditions throughout the entire country are rather unsettled.

"RED" SCARES SCORED BY HEALY

Brotherhood Chief Says They Are Part of "Despicable Propaganda Against Labor"—U. S. Official Denounced.

Washington, May 6.—Attorney General Palmer's warning of threatened May day violence and announcement of steps taken to prevent it were assailed before the railroad labor board today by Timothy Healy, president of the Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers, as a part of what he characterized as "a despicable propaganda against labor."

Such propaganda, Mr. Healy said, was started within less than 24 hours after the signing of the armistice and was designed "to poison the minds of the people to such an extent that the profiteers could still further increase prices and place the blame on labor."

While not naming the attorney general directly, Mr. Healy told the board that the "crusade" of a "high government official" against radicals was "undoubtedly for the purpose of aiding in the campaign of certain employers of the country to secure laws establishing involuntary servitude." He referred to sedition laws proposed in congress and said that while framed "ostensibly to eradicate bolshevism, I. W. W.ism and anarchism" they would have tied labor "hand and foot."

The attorney general's warning of May day violence and murder of federal and state officials was characterized as "the most flagrant instance of this most despicable crusade to inflame the people against wage workers."

"But the plans of the intriguers who sought to add further stigma to labor went wrong," said Mr. Healy, adding that May day passed off as peacefully as any other day of the year.

Hits Congress and Officials.

Mr. Healy concluded with the statement that if "government officials and congress had given as much attention to limiting the profits of profiteers as they have to pounding and hounding wage earners the cost of living would have decreased to figures within reason."

Chairman Barton, of the board, protested against criticism of other government departments being introduced into arguments before the board on demands of railway workers for increased wages, but Mr. Healy said the men he represented were wrought up over attacks on labor by government officials and that he had been instructed to lay before the board a statement on the loyalty of railroad men.

Labor was accused, he declared, of being responsible for the high cost of living, the object being to "poison the minds of the people to such an extent that the profiteers could still further increase prices and place the blame on labor."

"The loyalty of our railroad men during the war with Germany cannot be denied by those who are honest and sincere," continued Mr. Healy.

"Poisoned Tongues."

"But many honest and sincere people have listened to the poisoned tongues and read the output of poisoned pens until they believe that labor is disloyal. The crusade of this high government official is undoubtedly for the purpose of aiding in the campaign of certain employers of the country to secure laws establishing involuntary servitude.

"Sedition laws were suggested that would tie labor hand and foot. While ostensibly these laws were proposed to eradicate bolshevism, I. W. Wism and anarchism, the real purpose was to prevent the normal activities of labor.

"The most flagrant instance of this most despicable crusade to inflame the people of this country against wage workers was the information given out that May first was to be used by these 'overthrowers of the government' in murdering certain high officials. But the plans of the intriguers who sought to add further stigma to labor went wrong. May day passed off as peacefully as any other day in the year."

After Mr. Healy completed his statement, Bert M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, presented the wage demands of the railroad shop workers. He furnished statistics on the increase in the cost of living and asked the board to grant such an advance in pay as would enable the shopmen to live at the accepted American standard.

been captured by revolutionary forces under General Pablo Gonzalez, in another message received by the newspaper.

An advance detachment of General Angel Flores, revolutionary commander in Sinaloa, has driven federal forces toward La Cruz, where another engagement is expected, it was said.

Carranza Seeks Compromise.

Facing famine in his capital city, President Carranza has sought to effect a compromise with the revolutionary forces, according to statements issued today by T. R. Beltran, commercial agent for the liberal constitutional party at El Paso.

"The shortage in necessities has reached a serious stage in the capital," one of the statements said. "The discomforts being experienced by the population are so intense that a number of labor bodies have addressed themselves to Carranza asking him to take steps to remedy the situation by establishing bakeries where bread may be bought cheap.

"The attitude of the working classes is threatening, and grave disorders are expected at any moment."

President Carranza was reported as having held conferences with Robles Dominguez, a leader of the opposition, in an effort to reconcile the revolutionists. The results of the negotiations, however, were not known here.

"Arrests are the order of the day in Mexico City," Beltran said. "Recently, Jose Castillejo, a congressional deputy, was jailed on suspicion of favoring the party of General Alvaro Obregon, candidate for the presidency of the republic.

"Castillejo is one of the many victims of Carranzista tyranny, without regard for their ranks or for the duties that they are discharging under the constitution."

For three days the city of Guadelajara, in the state of Jalisco, was without electricity and water as a result of the activities of a column under Colonel Felix Barajas, who has been operating in that state for some time, Beltran said.

CABINET FLEES WITH CARRANZA.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, May 6.—Revolutionary leaders at Hermosillo have issued a statement declaring President Carranza is already fleeing Mexico City with his entire cabinet and is attempting to reach Vera Cruz, where his son-in-law, Candido Aguilar, with a strong force, is holding open lanes of escape.

An advance guard, led by several members of the staff of General Calles, commander of the rebel troops in northern Sonora, has gone through Pulpito Pass and is preparing a camp site in Chihuahua for the two thousand Sonora troops which left here today.

General Calles will remain in Agua Prieta several days, it was announced, planning invasion of Chihuahua and a concentrated attack upon Torreon. Additional troops from inland points in Sonora have been ordered to mobilize in Agua Prieta, for operations in Chihuahua.

General Calles announced today that preparations for warfare in Sonora were nearly completed. He said actual fighting would begin as soon as the Sonora forces reach Carranza strongholds.

Battle Seems Imminent.

It was declared at military headquarters here today that a battle at Mazatlan is imminent within the next few days. Additional reinforcements are being sent to General Flores, who is reported to have sent several messages to the commander of the Carranza garrison at Matzatlan urging him to join the revolution or surrender before Sonora forces make a concentrated attack upon the city.

Five battalions of revolutionary troops in command of Colonel Rodrigues left Agua Prieta late today for Juarez via Casas Grandes. General Calles, with the remainder of the force at Agua Prieta, will leave in a few days, it was said at his headquarters.

Advices to revolutionary leaders here were that the entire Carranza garrison at Casas Grandes has joined the revolt, part going to Juarez and part to Chihuahua City. They said that Rodriguez would get to Juarez without opposition.

Reports that Pancho Villa had joined the revolutionary movement were denied at the headquarters of General P. Elias Calles, war minister in the "liberal constitutional government," and military leader of the Sonora-Sinaloa forces. The intimation was that Villa was remaining entirely inactive.

When leaders of the revolution reach Chihuahua a conference will be arranged, it was stated, at which an agreement settling Villa's position would be reached.

OBREGON JOINS REBEL FORCES.

San Antonio, Texas, May 6.—Lieutenant Colonel Alvaro Obregon has formally joined the Mexican revolution initiated in the state of Sonora and has placed himself and his armed forces at the disposal of the revolution, according to advices received here today. In a manifesto issued in the state of Guerrero, a copy of which reached San Antonio today, Obregon called upon the Mexican people to rally to the support of the revolution against President Carranza and denied that he was seeking personal power.

Obregon declared in the manifesto that when he consented to become a candidate for the Mexican presidency he believed the political campaign would be "developed in absolute conformity to law," but facts have transpired which have "brought us face to face with the most sorrowful of realities." President Carranza, the manifesto charges, has attempted to make the "national army a whip lash at the service of his sole political judgment and disgrace, intrigue and calmny have gravitated around the members of said ramy."

"The present first magistrate of the nation, forgetting his high investiture of supreme power, converted himself into the chief of a political party," the manifesto declares, "and placed at the services of the band all the resources of the nation," and "violating all moral principles, opens the vaults of the national treasury and utilizes its fortuens as a means of subordination to pay the venal press."

"Vulgar Ambitionist."

Continuing the attack on the nation's executive, the manifesto said:

"The same first magistrate has divested himself in his ambitious politics of the respect with which all authority should guard laws, dictating a series of attempts against the followers of independent candidates and against the candidates themselves, which acts of the said first magistrate have exhibited him in the light of a vulgar ambitionist, who has separated himself completely from the road which marks duty and law, and who has attempted to impose upon the country a successor to conciliate his past and serve as an instrument for his unconquerable ambition and that of his circle of friends who have made of public matters a foundation of speculation.

"The same first magistrate, real chief of the Bonillasta party, upon receiving knowledge that a large majority of the citizens of the republic refused, with dignity and civic pride, the brutal imposition (of Bonillas), provoked an armed conflict so that he could encompass by violence a victory which he could not accomplish within the law and this conflict which was provoked against the state of Sonora, the authorities and the sons of that state with a new plan which was brought to light in the coarsest of calumnies against the independent candidate (Obregon), initiating a criminal charge in which he (President Carranza) appeared as the accuser; establishing over this candidate the most strict vigilance by the same persons who made the assault (on Obregon recently) at Tampico. Under such conditions it is impossible to continue the political campaign and it is absolutely necessary to again resort to arms to defend that which they are seeking to despoil us of by force of arms.

Resumes Status of Soldier.

"The political campaign having been suspended by reason of the facts related above and, following the ancient custom of serving my country when her institutions are in danger, I resume again my status as a soldier and on the appearance of the grand liberal party, which with many demonstrations sustains my candidacy in the political campaign, I placed myself at the orders of the citizens' constitutional governor of the free and sovereign state of Sonora to assist his decision to co-operate with him until the overthrow of the national federal powers (the legislative, executive and judicial). The executive by reason of the facts heretofore enumerated, the other two because they have sanctioned with their complicity the series of stated attempts."

The manifesto was issued at Chilpancingo de Bravos, state of Guerrero, April 20.

CARRANZA PLANS TO CHANGE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT

Washington, May 6.—Rebel agents here tonight announced receipt of a telegram from Mexico City saying the president of the municipality was organizing a civilian guard "for the purpose of protecting the city in the event of its exacuation."

The information, the agents said, was construed by them to mean that Carranza had determined to abandon the capital since the organization of such a force probably would not be undertaken without his consent and certainly not without his knowledge.

Concentration by General Carranza of troops at Mexico City had caused rebel representatives heer and some American army officials to believe that it might indicate the president's determination to gather about him a force sufficiently strong to enable him to transfer his seat of government. The obvious reason for such concentration, it was explained, would be the defense of the capital but, according to military experts, Mexico City is so difficult to defend that Carranza might be expected to employ the same tactics he did when Villa gained the ascendancy in 1914, and again set up his capital at Vera Cruz.

Revolutionary agents here agreed it would be possible for Carranza to utilize a comparatively small force of loyal troops for a stand somewhere outside the capital and that it might even be possible for money, but, observers asserted, his porary capital at Vera Cruz and from there direct a counter movement.

It would be possible for Carranza to take with him to Vera Cruz or to some other point the officials of the supreme court and a considerable quantity of supplies and money, but observers asserted, his position would then be no stronger than that of Villa or any other leader conducting independent operations. The possible success of such tactics, they declared, depended wholly upon a radical change in popular opinion.

To Attack Rebels.

Information based on news contained in the Mexico City newspapers of a recent date indicated that Carranza was preparing to send General Murguia south into the state of Puebla at the head of a considerable force to attack the rebels that have been gathered there under the command of General Pablo Gonzales, who recently joined the revolt.

The federal garrison in the city of Puebla is reported to have withdrawn Monday upon the approach of Gonzalez and to have taken refuge in Apizaco, Tlaxcala.

Other reports from Mexico City are that the legislature of the state of Mexico had declared in favor of the revolution and that General de La Torre had been sent to recapture Toluca, the state capital. Oaxaca, capital of the state of the same name Tuxpam and Panuco, near Tampico are towns now claimed by the rebels whose reports are that the same federal garrison that recently was reported to have withstood the attacks of General Manuel Palaez's men, had now joined the revolt.

The cutting of railroads continued, according to official and unofficial reports. The best information available indicated interruption of traffic over the railroads between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, Puebla and Pachuca and the main lines north to Torreon and west to Guadalajara.

Rebel forces were reported to have captured Oaxaca, 288 miles south of Mexico City, and it was said General Castenada had rebelled in Hidalgo, sixty miles northeast of Mexico City. Rebel activities were described in the vicinity of Frontera.

The Mexico City Press stated that the concentration of anti-Carranza forces in the vicinity of the capital continues. Fighting was reported at Los Herreras in Nuevo Leon, and toward Tampico.

Torreon Garrison Revolts.

Unconfirmed advices received today by agents here of the Mexican revolutionary movement said that the Carranza garrison at Torreon under General Pesario Castro had revolted and that the city was in control of the revolutionists, Cesaro Castro, a brother of the commanding general, the reports said, has fled to Mexico City.

Other advices received by agents of the revolutionists said no trains were being permitted to leave Mexico City and that the Carranza minister of railways had ordered all available railroad rolling stock concentrated in the capital.

Advices through official channels today said Generals Gonzales, Sidrorio Mendez and Manuel W. Gonzales had joined forces southeast of Mexico City and were prepared to repel any attack by Carranzistas from the capital.

General Urquizo, acting secretary of war in Mexico City, has issued a statement declaring that the capital is amply protected with artillery at all points.

On the Pacific coast advancing patrols of General Flores in Sinaloa yesterday defeated a Carranza force under Colonel Bastillo, which was defending Abuya and La Cruz. The Carranza forces fled after suffering a number of casualties and was pursued by the Sonora cavalry under Colonel Anaya. Another battle between these forces is reported to be imminent south of La Cruz.

Carranza Losing Grip.

Government reports continue to indicate a rapid weakening of Carranza's grip. Although any recognition by this government of the rebel movement other than that accorded any de factor force was said to be improbable, it is known agents of the state department have studied carefully the promulgamated program of the rebels and the published assurances of Alvaro Obregon and other leaders of the revolt that a more friendly attitude toward foreigners will be adopted.

In marked contrast the methods used by those who have acted in similar positions, agents of the revolution here have refrained from making any overtures to the United States government, and, it is understood no plea for special consideration will be made until the success of the rebel movement is assured. In the event that Carranza is forced out of the presidency, the attitude of the United States, according to some officials, will be shaped to a certain extent by the attitude taken by the rebels.

Official and unofficial advices agree in general that revolutionary forces are appearing with startling rapidity in almost all parts of the country, and that steps toward their coordination are well under way. Army officers here who have been studying the situation do not agree with the optimistic claims of some of the rebel leaders that Mexico City would be taken within a week or ten days, but they are convinced that Carranza will experience difficulty in extricating himself.

CARRANZA SOLDIERS KILLED AMERICANS.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—Belief that Carranza soldiers murdered his father and two brothers near El Oro, who were killed in the state of Mexico recently, was expressed here today by Joseph Greenlaw, of Flagstaff, Arizona. While there were rebel bands in the district, they were more friendly than the federal troops, Mr. Greenlaw said.

A. B. C. Conference Forced Carranza On United States

Washington, May 6.—William Tietelbaum, of New York, testified before the senate Mexican investigating committee today that the A. B. C. conference at Buffalo in 1914 forced the American government to recognize Carranza within two weeks after President Wilson, through Dudley Field Malone, former collector of customs at New York, had assured General Felipe Angeles that neither Carranza nor Villa would be recognized.

Mr. Tietelbaum, who was one of the organizers of the American anti-intervention association and who appeared before the committee at his own request, said the Angeles-Malone conference was held in New York and was arranged through the efforts of H. J. Wright, editor of The New York Globe. Mr. Wright, he said, sought to have Colonel House meet General Angeles, but Mr. House asked that Mr. Malone take his place.

A telegram instructing General Juan Barragan, chief of staff to President Carranza, to deliver $10,000 to Colonel Francisco Montiel for "pro-Mexican propaganda expenses in the Argentine Republic," was read before the senate committee by Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico. It was signed by A. M. Fernandez, chief clerk in charge of the Mexican department of foreign relations.

Senator Fall also introduced telegrams marked "confidential" to Guillermo Hall, special agent or the Mexican department of navy and commerce, showing that Hall received $5,000 for expenses incurred in conducting a party of members of the American chamber of commerce from Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, San Antonio and other cities through Mexico last February. One telegram from General P. Elias Calles to M. Garcia, Mexican consul at Laredo, Texas, said that the party must only be taken through the towns on the Mexican National railroad, and said that "certain conditions on the Tampico road make it undesirable that some towns be visited until necessary measures shall have been taken.

ANNUAL EPISCOPAL MEET ENDS IN MACON

Macon, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Council of the Atlanta Diocese of the Episcopal church came to a close here today with the acceptance of the invitation of St. George's church, Griffin, as the meeting place for next year, May 11 being fixed as the date for the gathering.

Submission of reports and resolutions featured today's session. The committee on finance reported the budget for the Atlanta diocese for the year 1920 as $8,000, of which $1,000 comes from the permanent fund, and $7,000 from the parishes and missions.

The report of the committee on the University of the South, showed that $850,000 of the $1,000,000 planned for Sewanee had been raised and that arrangements had been made for the erection of six dormitories and a gymnasium more fully equipped.

The report of the committee on state of the church suggested that future meetings of the council be more like rallies of religion. Rev. C. B. Wilmer, of Atlanta, submitted two resolutions, one that the parishes assume the liability of $17,500 to complete their quota for the University of the South and the other authorizing the executive board to apportion this amount between the parishes. Both resolutions were adopted. Resolutions for Armenian relief, for the protection of the Indains of the Yukon valley and for greater support and co-operation for the Appleton Church Home were adopted.

The following women, all of Macon, were appointed to serve on the board of trustees of the Appleton Church Home: Mrs. H. P. Derry, Mrs. William Lee Ellis and Mrs. G. W. Hubbell.

The new canons adopted at the session today bring about vital changes in the management of the diocese and church working. Under the new plan, there will be three departments, missionary, social service and educational. These will be the great divisions throughout the whole Episcopal church. This change was brought about by the world-wide campaign movement. The work is to be done by an executive council composed of one bishop, six clergymen, six laymen and three women.

The council for the Atlanta diocese will be elected for six years, new one going in every two years. Members of the council elected today were Rev. F. A. Wagg, Columbus; Rev. A. G. Richards, Athens; C. L. Bunting, Macon; A. H. Sterne, Atlanta; Mrs. C. L. Pettigrew (three-year term); Rev. H. L. Saumenig, Rome; I. H. Noe, Atlanta; M. K. Smith, Marietta; H. B. Kell, Griffin; Mrs. E. B. Harrold, Macon (two-year term); Rev. G. I. Hiller, Milledgeville; Rev. R. F. Phillips, LaGrange; Charles M. Strathan, Athens; H. E. Stockbridge, Atlanta; Mrs. Richard Johnston, Atlanta (one-year term.)

BOY SCOUTS STAGE BIG MACON PARADE

Macon, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—Macon waked to the fact that young America is in her midst when 1,000 youngsters, members of the different Georgia troops of Boy Scouts, marched through the streets of the business portion of the city this afternoon. It was the first time the scouts had been formed into a single unit and the youngsters presented an inspiring spectacle as they marched with all the bravado of regular army mne.
of regular army men.

from Atlanta, and preceding the long line of scouts marched George G. Fisher, deputy scout executive from New York, and many others who are active in the work of the organization throughout the country, as well as members of the local scout council.

Scouts from Americus were the first in line. Ashburn came next, followed by a long line of Atlanta scouts, marching four abreast. The Atlanta scouts had at their head a company of boys carrying all the colors of their troops. Boys from Brunswick and Claxton followed the Atlanta youths and then came those from Cordele, who boasted a drummer boy, Jack Conner. Then came a well-drilled bunch of troopers from Elberton, Forsyth, Guyton and LaGrange.

The Macon scouts were headed by a number of their scout masters and members of the Macon Rotary club. The only two eagle scouts in Georgia, Norman Peck and Wheeler Johnson, belong to the Macon organization and were conspicuous in the parade. Macon was followed by the boys from Newnan, Rome, Valdosta and Waycross.

During the day hundreds of Macon people visited the fair grounds, where they inspected the exhibits of snakes, butterflies, bats, fish, owls and many varieties of bugs that the boys have assembled. Governor Dorsey was among the visitors to the camp and walked among the boys, shaking their hands, finding out their names and talking to them in a man-to-man fashion.

This afternoon was spent in campfire talks, and tomorrow will be devoted to contests of various kinds and tomorrow night will be observed as stunt night.

ATLANTAN ARRIVES FROM OVERSEAS DUTY

War that seems so far in the dim past to many Atlantans will be refreshed for one Atlanta household soon. Corporal Richard P. Rainey, of the First division, Coblenz, Germany, of Atlanta, will arrive here to visit his parents at 632 South Pryor street.

Corporal Rainey arrived from France last week and is stationed at Camp Dix. His visit here will be in the nature of a furlough. He participated in all the battles of the First division and was not wounded. His father is W. W. Rainey, formerly of East Point. He had been overseas since June, 1917, and was on the border in 1916.

Thinness Easily Overcome.

("From Health and Beauty.")

Further evidence is being presented almost daily that a recent compound of new chemical elements combined in a tablet with hypophosphites is in reality proving a blessing to the abnormally thin men and women, for it can be demonstrated beyond doubt that a regular course of three or four months' treatment brings an increase in weight of from 10 to 30 pounds, with a decided improvement of health and color, too. For self administration the most popular form is to be found in three grain hypoxuclane tablets, obtainable in sealed packages from the best apothecary shops, with full directions.—(adv.)

Mr. Norman Cooledge Weds Miss Coitez Whitsett

A quiet wedding yesterday was that of Miss Coitez Whitsett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cook, and Mr. Norman Peeples Cooledge, which took place at noon at the residence of Dr. Ashby Jones, of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, who officiated.

Mr. Daniel Elkin was the best man and the only attendant.

The bride wore her traveling costume, a smart dark blue serge with blue braid hat, and a corsage bouquet of bride's roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, the small bridal party, which included only Mrs. Acree, Miss Helen McCarty, Mr. Howard P. Conway and Mr. Elkin, were entertained by Mr. Conway at a handsome luncheon, at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

The table centerpiece was a tall vase of blue flax lilies surrounded at the base with pink roses, and the luncheon was one of tasteful appointment.

Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge left for a wedding trip.

A host of friends will be interested in the marriage, of which there had been no previous announcement. The bride, whose home was formerly in Cordele, Ga., came to Atlanta with her parents only recently to reside here. A pretty blonde, she has the grace and charm which have already won friends and admiration in her new home.

Mr. Cooledge is the only son of Mrs. M. P. Cooledge, and a nephew of Messrs. Henry Peeples, Thomas Peeples and Edwin A. Peeples, of Atlanta; Howell Peeples, of Washington, and F. J. Cooledge. A graduate of Princeton, he has had valuable experience in the business world, and now holds a responsible position with the American Machine and Manufacturing company. He is a popular member of Atlanta's several social clubs.

Mrs. Hankinson Re-Elected President.

Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough, was re-elected president of the Sixth District Federation of Women's Clubs, at the annual meeting of the federation, at Round Oak, when the clubs composing the organization were guests of the Jones County Federation. Mrs. W. C. McCullough, of Round Oak, was elected vice president, and Mrs. W. E. H. Searcy, of Griffin, was elected secretary and treasurer.

The federation president ruled out of order a resolution proposing that a protest be entered against the action of the State Federation last November at Columbus for its indorsement of suffrage. The proposal was made by Mrs. Bruce C. Jones, of Macon, although not a delegate had been allowed the floor on the question of personal privilege, having been state secretary.

Resolution Causes Row.

The resolution provoked the only discord of the meeting, the rest of it being characterized by good reports of the work of the clubs throughout the state.

Mrs. Jones, the guest of Mrs. Hankinson, asked that she be allowed to read her resignation as an officer of the State Federation. She was allowed the privilege, and read the resignation, following which she asked Mrs. R. L. Berner, acting chairman of the resolutions committee, to read the protest against the action. Mrs. Berner refused and Mrs. Jones appealed to the chair, who directed Mrs. Berner to read the resolution. Mrs. McCullough moved its adoption and Mrs. J. H. Riley, of Haddock, seconded it. Mrs. Hankinson ruled it out of order and there was no protest of the ruling, so it stood.

More than $450 was reported raised for the Tallulah Falls School for Mountain Children, $50 of which was from the Child Life club, of Macon. Good reports were made by the Hebrew Young Ladies' Aid and by the Travelers' Aid, of Macon. Both show an unusual amount of charity work during the past year.—Macon Telegraph.

B. Y. P. U. Banquet.

One of the most delightful social occasions in the history of the Atlanta City B. Y. P. U. was a banquet held last Tuesday evening, May 4, at the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce. There were two hundred and twenty of the members of the city union present.

The supper was delightful, and afterward the program was even more so. Miss Mildred Parks, one of Atlanta's really gifted singers, first entertained with a splendid selection. Then came a short speech from J. H. Merritt, president of the B. Y. P. U. of Georgia. Next, Mr. Paul Crutchfield, another prominent Atlanta singer, entertained with four very appropriate and snappy selections. Following him, Miss Beatrice Hamlet gave three very interesting and amusing readings. Miss Mildred Parks was then called for again, and entertained with two more selections. Lastly, Miss Francis Johnson gave two very appropriate and amusing readings.

The occasion was one of the most enjoyable of its kind ever attended by those present. The affair was planned by the executive committee of the city union, and then handled to a conclusion by Dr. Frank D. Wesley, the very efficient vice president of the city union.

Flag Presented to B. H. S.

The flag committee of the Atlanta chapter U. D. C., of which Mrs. J. Loyd Teaford is chairman, presented a beautiful Georgia flag to the Boys' High school, Friday, at noon in the auditorium of the school. The entire student body and instructors were present.

The High school boys showed their enthusiasm by giving their school yell.

Mr. Ragland, the principal, presided, and after a speech of welcome to the visiting delegation from the U. D. C., he presented Mrs. J. Lloyd Teaford, chairman of the flag committee. Mrs. Teaford explained the purpose of the committee in presenting Georgia flags to the city schools. Mrs. W. S. Coleman, the president of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., gave an interesting talk in which she recalled a number of historic events concerning the old south and the Confederacy. She held in her hand a tiny silken flag of the Confederacy and sought to impress the loyalty and devotion which should be bestowed upon this beloved emblem. The flag was accepted by Mr. Edwin Everett for the schools. Mr. Joe King paid a glowing tribute to Georgia. Mr. Le Roy Mandle recited "Old Glory" while the "Stars and Stripes" appeared over the stage and the entire student body sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Teaford introduced Mrs. George P. Moore, who recited "Georgia."

The Mandolin club of the Boys' High school, led by Mr. Stanley Fiece, gave several selections.

Mrs. John C. Sage, chairman of medal and essay work, was introduced by Mr. Ragland and gave a talk along the lines of the recent essay contest. She also announced the winner of the medal in the Boys' High school, Mr. K. G. Matherson, Jr. The medal was offered by Mrs. G. Carpenter Jones through the U. D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kriegshaber will entertain a group of the members of the Tech and Emory college fraternities at their home on Moreland avenue Sunday at 1:30 o'clock.

A group of the young girls of the college set of society will be invited to meet them, and a buffet luncheon will be served. Thirty guests will enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Kriegshaber.

Mrs. Barnes' Committee Makes Report.

The committee with Mrs. Edward Barnes as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore and Mrs. J. Mifflin Hood, are highly gratified at the sum of $600 realized in the sale of the arts and crafts made by the convalescent soldiers at base hospital No. 6, at Fort McPherson.

All day, Monday and Tuesday, space was donated by J. P. Allen & Co. for the display of these articles, while on Wedensday and Thursday, Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose company gave space in their store for the sale to be continued there until all articles were sold.

The committe is arranging another exhibit and sale for a later date. A number of out-of-town orders were filled, and there was financial success and success also from an interesting viewpoint, as the public is not fully aware of the exquisite handwork of the convalescent soldier.

Shampoo That Makes Brilliant Hair

Ordinary soaps and cheap shampoos leave the hair sticky and covered with a thick filmy substance that endangers its life and makes it harsh, lifeless and ugly. For the hair only the most perfect blend of Cocoanut and Palm oils as combined in Shuco Shampoo should be used.

Shuco Shampoo is so prepared that it will completely rinse out leaving no unpleasantness. It brings out the lustre and brilliance and makes the hair glossy like silk. Two or three teaspoonfuls applied to the wetted hair and rubbed briskly at once changes into a bushel of sparkling, bubbling snowy-white lather, which completely rinses out leaving the hair glossy, silky, fluffy and wavy. Your mirror will tell you why Shuco Shampoo makes hair with a thousand lights. At all good druggists.—(adv.)

Says Tennessee Lady, and Will Just Go Suffering, She Says, When Cardui Is Right at Hand.

Caryville, Tenn.—Hoping her experience may benefit others who suffer from disorders common among women, Mrs. Charles Rains, of this (Campbell) county says: "I had womanly troubles till I couldn't rest, couldn't sleep, and was nervous and suffered a great deal of pain in my head, limbs and back. "For years I had known of Cardui, and it is strange how a woman will just go on suffering when the best remedy in the world is right at hand—but we do!

"But finally the pain was worse, my suffering so great I knew I must do something. A friend mentioned Cardui and we sent for it. One bottle helped me.

"I took a course of Cardui, regained my strength, built myself up and felt like a new woman.

"Can I recommend Cardui? Yes, and gladly, for it is a God-send to suffering women. I hope when they suffer with troubles common to women they don't wait, but get this sure remedy at once."

Gardens or Hunger

Under the caption, "Home Gardens or Hunger," a double-column editorial almost the depth of the page in The Philadelphia North American for April 17 pointed out the factors that are curtailing this year's food production and virtually compel home gardening.

"The situation, when boiled down, is this—at no time in recent years has every indication pointed to such an acute food shortage as must come next fall and winter, unless every effort is made to avert such a catastrophe. The home garden must be viewed in the light of a defense against famine. Its contribution to health and education is, for the time being, a secondary consideration. Under existing conditions it assumes the important role of insurance against hunger," states the editorial.

The editorial further points out that seeds have advanced little or none in price and some are even cheaper than two years ago. Attracting the attention of seedsmen, this editorial has aroused comment, for its arguments are stated in positive, convincing terms. Says one seedsman: "The North American certainly knows whereof it speaks."

In the face of the reduced acreage by truck growers and farmers, whatever can be done to swell the number of home gardeners will be welcomed.

The Southeast, and especially around Atlanta, is suffering with rain and more rain. The season is terribly late, but there is plenty of time to start spring gardens. Don't put it off but get your garden planted and keep it planted all through the summer and fall. Grow all your own vegetables. Whether you realize it or not—it is necessary. GREEN, RELEASED, ILL AT FAIRBURN HOME OF MOTHER

William B. Green, former vice president of the Fairburn Banking company, recently found guilty of embezzlement by a jury in the Campbell county superior court, has been released from jail in Fairburn, where he was held on a writ of lunacy, and is seriously ill at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. W. Green, according to news reaching Atlanta on Thursday.

After his conviction about a month ago, Green was arrested on a writ of lunacy sworn out by his brothers. The writ was later dimissed, but Green was kept in jail, although his bond of $40,000 was signed, because his bondsmen would not turn the bond over to Sheriff Jenkins, of Campbell county.

Green is under the care of physicians, and it is not yet known whether or not his illness will interfere with the hearing on the motion for new trial made by his attorneys, the hearing having been set for May 22.

SPORTS — Johnny Wilson Wins World's Middleweight Title

Edited by Cliff Wheatley

Unknown Boxer Wins Middleweight Title From Champ O'Dowd

Johnnie Wilson, of Boston, in His First Battle With Fighter of Prominence, Blazes Way to Championship in 12-Round Affair.

Boston, May 6.—Johnny Wilson, of Boston, won the middleweight boxing championship of the world, when he was awarded a referee's decision over Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, here tonight. The fight went twelve rounds.

O'Dowd was the aggressor throughout the contest, but Wilson, a left-handed boxer, scored repeatedly with his right. O'Dowd excelled in in-fighting, but seemed unable to fathom Wilson's style of boxing. Eight of the rounds went to Wilson, two to O'Dowd, and two were even.

The only knockdown in the bout came in the second round, when Wilson caught O'Dowd with a straight right to the jaw, O'Dowd going down for the count of four. Wilson surprised the followers of the game by scoring so many times with his right, breaking through O'Dowd's defense often.

The pace set by the men was fast, and at the end of the twelfth round both were unsteady on their feet. The St. Paul boy was a big favorite before the bout, the general betting being 10 to 3.

Wilson has participated in many bouts against second-rate boxers in the last year, and has appeared in many cities, principally in New England. Tonight's bout was his first against a leading boxer.

O'Dowd won the title from Al McCoy in 1917. Hector MacInnes, of Boston, was referee.

Boston, May 6.—When the gong sounded for the end of the twelfth round and Referee MacInnes pointed to Wilson's corner in token of the local boy's victory, O'Dowd protested the decision, claiming he was entitled to a draw at least.

While MacInnes, who was the choice of O'Dowd's manager as referee, was explaining why he had awarded the title to Wilson the backers of the local boy rushed to the ring and carried the new champion away on their shoulders.

Wilson's victory gave him the honor of bing the first New England boxer to hold the middleweight title. It is the first time a Bostonian has held a ring championship since the days of the late Honey Melody.

Spectators said after the fight that O'Dowd's chance to retain his title went glimmering when Wilson sent him to the mat in the second round for the count of four. The knockdown was a complete surprise to Wilson's backers, as it was to the adherents of the champion. Thereafter Wilson never was headed in his dash for the title.

THE STORMY PETRELS BEATEN BY ALABAMA

Tuscaloosa, Ala., May 6.—(Special.)—Alabama defeated Oglethorpe 5 to 0, here today on a rain-soaked field which made fast play impossible. Turk was on the mound for Oglethorpe, while Hinton, a southpaw, pitched for Alabama.

The batters of both teams were unable to hit with any degree of consistency because of the wet balls, which also caused the pitchers to show some wildness. Turk pitched a good game allowing only one earned run. Carlyle continued his hitting and ended the season with an average of 416.

Darkness Ends Long Tie Battle

By Loyd A. Wilhoit.

Three errors by Zip King, coming when they let in runs, coupled with a general and plainly-apparent inability to hit on the part of the locals, resulted in the calling of a perfectly good ball game yesterday afternoon at Poncey in the thirteenth inning, when Umpire "Steamboat" Johnson decided that the Atlanta Crackers and the Chattanooga Lookouts should call off hositilities temporarily and repair to their several supper tables.

Mr. Johnson's somewhat stentorian announcement did not seem to cause any particular sorrow among the stands despite the fact that it was accompanied by a series of tearful and seemingly painful contortions on the part of the well-known arbiter.

Pitcher York, who started the fracas for the Lookouts, seemed determined to give the game to the Crackers until he was yanked in the seventh with two down in favor of "Lengthy" Vines. The Frankmen seemed loath to accept the gift of a game, however, so Mr. York and Mr. Vines were both saved from having their pitching records altered in the least.

Sheehan Hurled Well.

Big Tom Sheehan, who went through the entire thirteen frames for the local hopefuls, hurled splendid ball throughout, keeping the Chattanooga hits widely scattered and handling himself in the box like the field general that he is. Tom deserved to win the game, but his comrades mistook orders and went to bat with the apparent purpose of seeing who could knock the highest one. The Chattanoogans earned only one run off the big boy in the entire thirteen innings.

The Lookouts also presented the Frankmen with two of their three counters. Mr. York was responsible for both by means of his generosity with passes to the first sack.

Nicklin's crew led off in the scoring when they put one over in the first of the fourth. After Daniels was out, Bratchi singled to center and went to third on Neiderkorn's clean hit to the same corner. Bratchi scored when King booted Maguire's grounder, but the Crackers tightened up and retired the side without further scoring.

In their half of the fourth, the locals came back strong with two counters. The first three men up—High, Damrau and Brazill—each got singles, loading the bases. High scored on a wild pitch by York and Damrau was forced home when the Chattanooga hurler walked Wingo and King.

Another in Sixth.

In the sixth, Chattanooga counted another, when Bratchi walked, went to third on King's error of Maguire's bounder and counted on Dudley's single to right.

The Crackers broke the tie in the seventh when King came home on another wild pitch by York after that worthy had walked both Damrau and Brazill.

The Lookouts put over their third tally in the eighth. Towsend led off with a single to right, was sacrificed by Maguire and scored on Demoe's hot single through third.

From then on, the game resembled the early scoreless innings. Both teams seemed overcome with ennui and unwilling to take advantage of the other's miscues. When either side was in danger, however, the aggregations seemed to wake up to a realization of affairs, but when the danger was temporarily removerd, both sides would resume slumbering.

Kauffman on First.

Altogether, it was a rather poor and uninteresting affair, but it was livened by the fact that Dick Kauffman, who played first sack for Atlanta four or five years ago and who jumped the Volunteer aggregation of Nashville last year, appeared for the first time in a Cracker uniform on first base. While Dick did not hit Thursday, he fielded his position with machine-like precision, and he will later strive for a batting average.

Umpire Johnson instilled some little interest in the contest in the fifth inning when he ordered Doc Niederkorn off the field for "beefing." "Steamboat" came on the field with the warning for all who did not know him to "behave like nice boys," but Doc didn't take the advice and was even forbidden the privilege of the showers by Umpire Johnson.

To dwell entirely on Zip King's errors of Thursday would leave an incorrect impression of the kind of ball he played. Zip showed flashes of sensationalism on several occasions, getting them at difficult angles and making his throw quickly and accurately. He fielded nine chances perfectly during the encounter.

Charlie High played the star game for the locals with the willow. He gathered three singles off the combined deliveries of York and Vines out of six trips to the plate, scored one of the Cracker tallies and fielded his garden without a bobble.

Kauffman Is Latest Frankman

The Crackers took on added strength when Dick Kauffman put on an Atlanta uniform for the first time in some years. Dick was with the Nashville Vols during the spring training days, but the figures told in a semi-professional contract were to his liking, and one dark, stormy night, the star first baseman packed his grip and hit it for the semi-pro circles of Philadelphia. And there he has been over since, despite the nice overtures made him by several Southern league clubs, and at least one under the shadow of the big tent.

Kauffman played his first game yesterday, and while his old stick was covered with dust a bit, he got away with fielding his position at the initial sack in good style. Dick looks mighty good just now, and when his batting eye arrives, the Crackers should take on a formidable appearance. Dick will supply a good bit of experience needed to polish off the Cracker infield, and there's little doubt that the veteran's brain-work will spell much in the final success of the Frankmen.

With Kauffman on first, Captain Sammy Mayer, who has been working there, pending Dick's arrival, will be shifted to the outfield, which move should give Prof. Charlie Frank the strongest outer garden in the league, with Charlie High stepping into 'em like Babe Ruth on a batting spree, and with Red Wingo slapping every ball thrown him to the far corners of the outfield. Captain Mayer has hit well since the first game of the season, and his average will doubtless be right where it has always been—in speaking distance of the three-hundred mark.

WILLIS' CIRCUIT HIT WINS FOR EMORY SOPHS

By Ernest Rogers.

Emory University, May 6.—(Special.)—With all the thrill of a short story climax came the culmination of the Sophomore-Theologue set-to on the Emory diamond when the former aggregation took the "Parsons" into camp by a count of 3 to 2 this afternoon. The climax came in the ninth when "Ick" Willis, a former Gordon institute star, toddled to the plate and polled out a home run with an anxious teammate on third.

The game had been pretty much of a pitchers' battle between Rochelle and Burnside till Willis made his fatal entrance upon the scene of conflict. In the sixth, seventh, and eighth innings Rochelle fanned seven successive batsmen. Burnside also proved effective in the pinches and but for his fatal slip in the ninth would possibly have been returned the victor.

For the winners Allen and Bell played jam-up ball. Allen is a great defensive player and is gradually getting his eye on the ball. He is a hot weather player and is just getting right as the season is drawing to a close. Bell is a fast player and handles all chances around the keystone cushion with neatness and dispatch.

The Theological bunch made quite a creditable showing and it was more a flash of fate than anything else that robbed them of a victory Thursday afternoon. Langston, behind the bat, was always on his toes and had a deadly peg to second.

Georgia Defeats Vandy, 4-1

By Jerome Jones, Jr.

Athens, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—Georgia split the series with Vanderbilt by taking the second game by the score of 4 to 1. For six innings, each team went without a score, but in the seventh, things began to warm up when Vanderbilt pushed one run across in her half of that inning. Georgia came back and scored one in her half.

Stumb, who occupied the mound for Vanderbilt weakened in the eighth, and when the last Georgia batter had been retired, three runs were scored to their credit and the game was won. Satterfield pitched for Georgia and twirled his usual good brand of ball. He struck out nine men and gave up only three hits.

Stumb also pitched a good game, and with the exception of the eighth inning, he had the Georgia batsmen completely at his mercy. He was rather wild, however, giving up six bases on balls. Stumb was relieved in the eighth by Latham, who managed to retire the side after two runs had been scored off of him. Both pitchers twirled good ball for the first six innings and neither team threatened seriously.

Stranded on Third.

Vanderbilt did get a man on third in the fourth, with two out, but they were unable to score, as Satterfield fanned the next man up. In the seventh inning, Vanderbilt scored one run, after two men were out. Neill was hit by Satterfield. He stole second. Thomas singled to deep center and Neill crossed the plate for Vanderbilt's only run. Tyner went out Welch to Cody.

Georgia evened the score in her half of the same inning. Satterfield, the first man up, doubled to center. He stole third, and scored on Clark's sacrifice fly. The other three runs were obtained in the eighth inning. Hutchinson, the first man up, walked. Cody singled and Hutcheson went to third. Mangum singled and Hutcheson scored. Mott struck out. Cody scored on Satterfield's single, and Mangum went to second on the throw home. He scored on Clark's sacrifice fly to right. Hancock flew out to short and the side was retired.

Was Great Game.

The game Thursday was one of the best ever played at Sanford Field. Vanderbilt played errorless ball and Georgia made only one miscue. Up until the eighth inning, the game had been a pretty pitcher's battle with the odds in Satterfield's favor. Besides pitching an excellent game, Satterfield also starred with the willow. Out of four trips to the platter he succeeded in landing for two safe bingles.

Walk Miller Denies Meeghan Defeated Freddie Boorde

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

Walk Miller, owner of a local fighting stable and manager of Freddie Boorde, popular Atlanta featherweight, denied the accounts of the Boorde-Wilson fight in Charleston, S. C., Wednesday night, as published in The Constitution Thursday, giving the fight to Stanley Meeghan. Walk declared that his boy fought rings around the scrappy Meeghan, and a newspaper report of the battle indicates Walk is talking facts.

The Constitution based its account on a telegram signed "Louis Most, Meeghan's manager," Mr. Miller asserts that Mr. Most denies sending the message, stating that Meeghan sent it and signed his name. The writer has not heard from Mr. Most in connection with the affair. Both managers were authorized by The Constitution to send an account of the battle, and the one bearing Mr. Most's name was the only one received. It was naturally presumed that the information was accurate, and the dope was used.

If the publication of the message, apparently coming from Mr. Most was incorrect, and if we have done Freddie Boorde an injustice by publishing it, we offer the following account from a Charleston newspaper—The News and Courier—as the real result of the issue between Boorde and Meeghan:

"Freddie Boorde, of Atlanta, defeated Stanley Meeghan, of Chicago, in a splendid ten-round fight at the baseball park last night before a handful of spectators. Boorde was taller than his opponent and had the advantage in reach. He was the aggressor for the major portion of the fight. Meeghan showed his nerve and clearly demonstrated his gameness every minute that he was in the ring.

"This was one of the best fights that has yet been offered by this club. The boys fought hard, steadily and with determination and ability every minute that they were in the ring. There was not a bit of stalling. Boorde had the majority of the rounds. Each fighter got in some hard blows and each demonstrated that he knew the game. Boorde was the more agile, it appeared, and more clever. Meeghan was of the boring in type. Boorde appeared to be familiar with his tactics.

"In the semi-final Lukie Tenner and 'Young' Barrineau, both of Charleston, appeared in a six-round affair. Tenner was the victor because of his science and aggressiveness.

"In the preliminary of four rounds Willie Schleppgrel and 'Kid' Newton exhausted themselves in the first round. After that they fought hard, but they were winded and neither was able to land a blow that would floor or apparently jar the other to a great extent."

Double Bill Saturday; Play Tie Off Sunday.

Young Bob Higgins, youthful manager of the Atlanta Baseball club, announced last night that the Lookouts and Crackers would play a double bill at Ponce de Leon park Saturday afternoon, and that yesterday's tie game with the Lookouts would be played off Sunday at Fort McPherson.

Following the custom established years ago the fans of the city will witness the bargain bill Saturday at the price charged for a single game. And with the old Cracker machine rocking along in good shape, the fans ought to see a couple of wins on the good side of the book.

It doesn't hurt to be wrong one more time, and inasmuch as we were right in predicting that Tom Sheehan would twirl yesterday's battle, and forgetting the fact that we doped him to start on two occasions before he finally mounted the rubber, we nominate one Daniel Boone as the gentleman who will send the pill over this afternoon for the local clan.

Dan'l has just about recovered from the effects of a recent operation, and he should come across with a victory over the Tennesseans. The Lookouts look a whole lot better than they did their last series with the Crackers, but the Crackers haven't been idle along the improvement lines, either, of late, and we still don't believe that Strang Nicklin's team offers any very strong opposition to Charlie Frank and his team.

Strang's "Clinging" Vines will probably be sent against the Frankmen this afternoon, and when said Mr. Clinging Vines is in a flinging mind, it's hard to tell just how the conflict will go.

One More Champion Hands Over His Belt.

The boxing world was electrified last night when press dispatches flashed the result of the Johnny Wilson-Mike O'Dowd fight at Boston, in this brief bulletin.

"Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion of the world, lost his title to Johnnie Wilson, of Charlestown, Mass."

The wise ones of the ring game were shocked and they still are.

"Who is this Johnnie Wilson?" is the question they are asking, and the question must go unanswered, for boxing records carry no mention of this unknown unheralded, new middleweight champion fighter of the universe.

The dispatches state the fight went 12 rounds, and that Wilson handed the champion a mighty whaling. We, of Atlanta, are particularly interested in this assertion, because many of us saw the champion whip "Stockyards" Murphy for nine rounds, when Referee Hume McDonald stopped the fight to prevent Murphy from being beat to insensibility. At that time, Mike O'Dowd looked unbeatable, and there are many arena fans who saw that fight at the Auditorium who will not believe that Mike O'Dowd was outfought, and who will assert for all time that O'Dowd lost his title through unfair means.

But the dispatches say that Wilson actually knocked down O'Dowd in the fourth round, the champion taking a count of four before he could gather his senses and stave off the volley of lefts that rained on his frame. It was the only knockdown of the battle.

Mike O'Dowd passes from the championship, but in going he carries with him the satisfaction that he fought all comers, and at all times, and be the fallen champion assured that the record of his reign has been one that any boxer would be proud to possess.

New York, May 6.—An early advance on bullish weather and crop advices was followed by reactions in the cotton market today, with October selling from 36.80 to 36.46, and closing at 36.51, compared with 36.35 at the close yesterday. Old crop months were relatively easy, with July selling off from 38.73 to 38.72, and the close steady, net 25 points lower to 18 points higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 17 points on higher Liverpool cables, reports that the Lancashire wage dispute had been settled, and complaints of further rains in eastern and central sections of the belt. Old crop positions sold 20 to 26 points net higher, and the new crop about 38 to 45 points above last night's closing figures during the early trading, on covering and fresh commission house buying. There was also some trade buying of July and October, but the support of that sort was less active than it was earlier in the week, and when the detailed weather reports confirming the early private news of rains failed to inspire additional buying, the market turned easier under realizing.

Unfavorable reviews of the domestic goods trade and reports that freight room had been booked for 17,000 bales of cotton to be shipped from Savannah and other southern ports to New York, probably increased the disposition to take profits on long contracts. There was also southern selling here on the decline, which carried the old crop positions 20 to 25 points net lower. New crop months lost all but a few points of their early advance and the close was at nearly the low point.

It is reported that Lancashire mills have agreed to advance wages 28½ per cent over current rates, with an additional increase of 10 per cent to male card-room operators for a period of one year. A late report that Japan had removed the embargo on exports of cotton yarns led to some bearish comment on the afternoon decline. Exports today 404 bales, making 5,631,928 so far this season. Port receipts 13,913; United States port stocks 1,173,022.

New York, May 6.—Spot cotton quiet; middling 41.50.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON LOSES TOWARDS CLOSE

New Orleans, May 6.—Opening higher today, the cotton market held firm for a while, but finally reacted under realizing and settled down into an irregular trading affair, with much of the business resulting from straddle operations between the two crops which resulted in weakening the old crop and holding the new crop fairly steady. The close illustrated clearly the type of session it was, being 21 points down to 20 points up net, for the day.

Better prices on the first call were due to higher cables than expected and to reports that the threatened Lancashire mill strike had been settled. The initial rise continued until prices were 23 to 49 points up, and July was at 38.48. Realizing by longs caused moderate reactions and, on top of this, were heavy sales of July against purchases of October on the argument that the two months must come nearer together because of not altogether satisfactory conditions in the old crop and the poor outlook for the new. The market fell off until it stood 21 points down to 12 points up net. July at its lowest traded at 38.04, and October at 36.25. July closed at its lowest, but October closed 6 points up from the bottom.

"MARKED CARDS" LAID TO COTTON EXCHANGES

Washington, May 6.—In another senate clash today between Senators Comer, democrat, Alabama, and Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, over the former's amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill to amend the cotton futures trading law Senator Comer stated that the cotton mills in which he is interested paid for numerous advertisements in southern newspapers in support of his amendment.

Senator Ransdell produced a number of the advertisements and asked whether they had been paid for by the cotton producers, spinners or exchange brokers. Senator Comer replied that his milling company had paid for all and gave a complete list. Mr. Comer added that he had spent years of his life and much money to "educate" the cotton states regarding necessity for securing changes in the cotton exchange grading rules. He also reiterated that his amendment would aid the producers and repeated charges that the cotton exchanges are opposing this amendment while operating with "marked cards and loaded dice."

The Comer amendment still is in conference and it was reported today that the senate and house managers were prepared to report a disagreement to bring the amendment before the house and senate for furthr action.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—After several days of slow, creeping advances, new crop months today acquired momentum which will probably carry them to previous high of 37.25 for October, in which case we do not believe they will meet with the heavy selling encountered on the last upturn. Weather conditions continue unfavorable. We continue our advice to buy new crop months on declines.

MOSS & FERGUSON.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—The market today was higher early, owing to reports of heavy rains in the central belt and more showers in the east. As the feeling about the new crop is one of great anxiety, these reports led to considerable speculative buying. Liverpool was a free seller on the advance, as our market has gone up closely to Liverpool in the last three or four days. It is reported that the Lancashire strike has been settled by a compromise. In New Bedford the mills are still operating, but at a reduced rate, and in a more or less crippled condition. News from the dry goods market is very unsettled. Further sales by retailers are reported in contemplation following the advertisement of a large store in New York that all prices will be reduced 20 per cent. The stock of cotton in New York has been steadily increasing, although at a moderate rate, owing to transportation difficulties, and this has resulted in a narrowing of the premium of the old crop. We expect that further rains will maintain the bullish sentiment, but there is some little disposition to pay attention to the increasing evidence that goods prices have at last provoked the consumer.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—Cotton seed oil shows advancing tendency, under moderately increased consuming demand. Eastern trade stocks both cotton oil and lard are at minimum and exports broadening with higher exchange would force heavy short covering. Lateness of cotton planting will defer new crude offerings and substantially higher prices for September oil follow.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—Price changes are influenced quickly on weather advices, and as today's reports denoted more rains east of the Mississippi, the trend was higher for a time. Unfavorable crop conditions keep prices steady with offerings limited to profit taking sales; on the other hand, spot cotton is not in active demand, however, holders look for a higher basis later because of the poor start of the new crop. Active and irregular movements can be expected for some time to come.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—Further rain in the eastern belt and reports to the effect that the Lancashire wage conference resulted in a settlement leading to the outlook of increased spinners takings in that district advanced prices early today. Some realizing developed with the idea that Texas has been greatly benefited by the rains in that state. Consequently prices eased off from the high levels. Furthermore, the action of the stock market was of influence in cotton circles when it advanced in the fore part of the day and sold off in the afternoon. Purchases on dips continue to appear advisable.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—Although the advance of yesterday was continued this morning, the market was more or less irregular, the chief factor on the advance being the bullish weather and crop news from eastern and central sections of the belt. Rumors of Lancashire wage disputes had been settled. Strong Liverpool cables and a firmer stock market encouraged buying, but there was selling for a reaction as well as realizing on the early advance, with the market easing off as a circumstance. In our opinion prices will continue to be governed for a time by the weather and crop reports and while an improvement in weather conditions will bring about a lowering of levels advantage should be taken, we believe, of such opportunities to make purchases.

JOHNSTON BROS. & CO.

FAIR

New Orleans, La., May 6.—(Special.)—Spinners the world over are likely to become much concerned as to the unfavorable prospects for the making of a large crop of American cotton this year, due to backwardness of the season and indicated small acreage, especially if unfavorable climatic conditions continue in the cotton region of the south.

As yet Texas is without sufficient moisture for planting and germination of seed over large areas of the state, particularly in the south and central portions, and too much rain continues to fall at intervals in the Mississippi valley and South Atlantic states. The character of weather to be experienced in the interior during the remainder of this important month will likely prove to be the most influential market development.

The trade is gradually working up to a high pitch as regards the uncertainty of weather developments during the remainder of this month, as it will require the best of climatic conditions to permit the crop to make satisfactory progress.

In the event of Texas being deprived of sufficient rain, or in case rains continue in the central and eastern portions of the belt, and torrential rains are often experienced in May, particularly east of the Mississippi river, there may be some stirring times in the cotton market before the expiration of the current month.

Therefore, the future course of values will probably be governed mainly by character of the weather in the future. Under the circumstances, opinions are virtually valueless. Nevertheless, we believe that some very unfavorable weather will be witnessed in the cotton belt this month, perhaps sooner than expected.

Private cables from Liverpool report settlement of the threatened strike of Lancashire cotton mill operatives, as a result spinners are expected to increase their takings of raw cotton. There are slight indications already of the demand for spots improving, sales somewhat larger in Liverpool today, and larger sales at few points in the South have been noted with interest.

Much is being made over the unfavorable trade and financial situation in Japan, which country prospered so much during the war, but is only in character. A reaction there was due with the revival of British competition for trade in the Orient.

STOCKS ARE HEAVY AT MARKET'S CLOSE

New York, May 6.—Stocks were irregularly higher at the opening of today's market, wavering or uncertain at midday and heavy at the close, when realizing for profits caused general cancellation of gains in all but a few of the more speculative issues.

Trading was animated by the same influences which have diverted the market from its recent downward trend, but lack of public interest or sustained bullish leadership, finally reduced dealings to slender dimensions.

Pools again essayed to elevate the more popular issues of the industrial division, especially steels, equipments and oils, later taking up shippings and sundy specialties comprising the chemical and fertilizer groups, but their operations failed to enlist outside support.

The money market was easier in that the supply of call money at 7 per cent at all times exceeded requirements, but further contraction of time funds and merchants' paper was reported.

In a survey of general conditions for the first four months of the year, the local federal reserve bank expressed the opinion that "very little progress towards a reduction of either commodity prices or credit volume" had been made.

On the other hand, there was mus discussion among bankers with mercantile connections of the deflation now under way at leading business centers of the country. This movement is finding expression, they say, in wholesale and retail offerings of merchandise, particularly high-priced textiles and leathers.

The bond market gave a better account of itself than the stock list, representative industrials and rails tending higher, with a further recovery in liberty issues, notably the 3½s, which rose to 91.50, or 2 1-3 per cent over their recent low record. Total sales, par value, aggregated $13,350,000. Old United States bonds were unaltered on call.

Sugar.

New York, May 6.—The local market for raw sugar continues firm and while local refiners are said to be willing to pay 18½ cents for Cubas, cost and freight, for prompt and nearby shipment, there appears to be nothing available at this level, with holders asking higher prices. No sales were reported locally today, although it was said that recently 100,000 bags of Cubas were sold to New Orleans operators at 19 cents, cost and freight, for June-July and August shipment. Nothing official is known about the conference between the leading refiners and government officials. The market closed firm at 18½ cents for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 19.56 for centrifugal.

Prices for refined are gradually being raised to conform to the price of raws and further advances were recorded today, with the list now ranging from 18½ to 23 cents for fine granulated. The demand continues active and refiners are still limiting their allotments, although deliveries continue to improve, with refiners using every means possible to distribute their sugar over a wider territory.

There was not much activity in sugar futures and price changes were irregular. The near mnoths, however, were firmer in sympathy with the strength in the spot market and closed 5 to 15 points higher, while later deliveries were unchanged, although at one time December was 30 points net lower.

Coffee.

New York, May 6.—Reports of a firmer tone in Brazil and an improved spot demand were accompanied by a more active buying movement in the market for coffee futures today and a sharp advance in prices. The opening was unchanged to 6 points higher and there was some little irregularity early because of realizing, but offerings were readily absorbed, with July selling up from 15.15 to 15.60, and September from 14.83 to 15.10 in the late trading, or about 20 to 48 points net higher on active months. The close was at about the best point of the day on most position with last prices showing net gains of 20 to 37 points. Closing bids: May, 15.20; July, 15.49; September, 15.07; October, 15.04; December, January and March, 14.98.

Spot coffee, firmer; Rio 7s, 15⅝; Santos 4s, 23⅝ to 24¼. Cost and freight offers included Santos 4s at 24 cents for July to September shipment and Rio 7s at 18 cents, London credits.

The official cables showed an advance of 75 reis in the Rio market and of 1-32d in the rate of Rio exchange on London. The dollar buying rate was 10 reis lower. The early cable quoted Santos futures unchanged to 75 reis higher and a special cable received later showed an advance of 125 to 500 reis. Brazilian port receipts, 15,000; Jundiahy receipts, 3,000.

Weeps as He Denies He's Guilty of Murder Of Vera Schneider

Pontiac, Mich., May 6.—Closing arguments were begun late today in the trial of Anson Best, charged with the murder of Miss Vera Schneider. The case, it was indicated, would be in the hands of the jury early tomorrow.

Best was on the stand most of the day. He testified that he had never seen the girl until he was asked by officers to look at her body when he was stopped at the scene of the crime shortly after it was discovered.

Once during his testimony Best broke down and wept for several minutes. He told a detailed story of his life from boyhood spent in several small Michigan towns, of his service in the marine corps and finally of his employment in a Flint automobile factory. He left his work there, he said, the day before Miss Schneider was killed, coming to Pontiac to visit relatives. Describing his movements on the night of the tragedy, Best testified that he spent the time until midnight visiting a motion picture theater and walking about town.

CORN LIST JUMPS TO RECORD PRICES

Chicago, May 6.—Corn jumped today to the topmost prices yet this season. The supply here was so scanty and the demand so active that No. 2 yellow commanded as much as $2 a bushel. Quotations closed strong, 2 1-8 to 5 1-2c net higher, with July $1.71 5-8 to $1.71 7-8 and September $1.62 5-8 to $1.62 7.8.

Oats gained 1-4 to 1 1-8c and provisions 5 to 85c.

Shorts in the May delivery of corn discovered after midday in particular that it was next to impossible to even up contracts except through a sort that hoisted the market in a bewilderingly rapid manner. This fact was due somewhat to overselling earlier on the part of the bears, a circumstance more or less the result of excellent weather and of sharp cuts announced in the price of silk and other commodities. Reports that Dutch banks had purchased 40,000,000 bushels of Argentine corn for Germany counted as a bullish factor in the late trading, and, so too, did talk of broad export demand for wheat.

Oats were governed chiefly by the action of corn. Most of the business was local.

Upturns in the value of hogs gave strength to provisions, despite some weakening later in the hog market. Lard especially received good support.

Charles Montgomery Body Urges All Posts to Amalgamate in One Strong Organization.

An invitation for all of the Atlanta posts to join with the Montgomery post to make one central post of Atlanta to bear the name of the Atlanta post was extended last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Charles D. Montgomery post of the American Legion in Cable hall. A large number of Legionnaires were present and the discussions wre entered enthusiastically by many of the members.

The principal speaker of the meeting was Dr. Henry Alford Porter, pastor of the Second Baptist church, who delivered a talk on "Individual Capacity." The Yellow Jacket four of Georgia Tech gave a number of selections and their harmony was encored generously.

Dr. Lyle Chairman.

Dr. W. C. Lyle was elected chairman of the executive committee. Standing committees of the year were elected. A. S. Groves was appointed chairman of the push committee of the campaign to increase the membership of Atlanta posts in the drive for a million new mengers of the legion which commences on May 17 and lasts through May 22. A citizens' committee will be appointed to aid the push committee in their campaign.

The use of Cable hall was offered the post by Mr. Brownlee, of the Cable Piano Co.

It was announced by J. H. Folsom, of the Atlanta office of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, that the Atlanta branch is located on the second floor of the Masons' Annuity building and that this office is for the benefit of local legionnaires. Any claims that are to be settled, any back pay to be collected, insurance to be converted or to be straightened out, will be received at this office and Mr. Folsom is desirous of having all ex-service men who have experienced any difficulties in this matter to visit this office.

Resolution Passes.

The proposition of creating a central post of as many of the present Atlantans possible who wish to affiliate in such a post was presented in the form of a resolution, which after a number of talks, was passed. An amount of opposition was incurred when it was proposed to change the name of the post. It was at first thought that to take away from the post its designation would tend to detract from the memory of Lieutenant Montgomery, who so nobly died for his country, and eradicate the means of perpetuating his memory. A proviso was attached to the resolution, however, that the 1,100 men who formed its personnel pledged themselves that his memory should not fade. Provisions are also made for the perpetuation of the names of the other men, killed on the battlefields of France, for whom the various posts were named.

The purpose of a strong central post is to incorporate the members of the legion in one body, to concert their action, to eliminate rivalry and petty jealousies between the various posts and to unify the body so as to accomplish the greatest amount of good for the legion.

HARDWARE MEN FEAST AT 'CUE

Dance Follows At East Lake Country Club—President of Body Sounds Keynote.

The congregation of delegates to the Southeastern Hardware and Implement association meet, heretofore numbered by hundreds in the city Auditorium, where the convention has its headquarters, swelled into perhaps a thousand and five hundred gay and festive ladies and gentlemen who visited the East Lake Country club, where the association held its barbecue yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

In addition to ten carloads of passengers brought there by the special cars of the Georgia Railway and Power company, a long line of automobiles laden with hardware enthusiasts carried the crowds to the feast.

The barbecue consisted of pork, lamb and mutton served at tables erected near the lake, in addition to a stew so highly seasoned as to counteract the influence of the raw weather, and a variety of beverages of a low voltage. There was plenty of food, notwithstanding the numbers of people to be fed.

Dance at Club.

A dance continued well into the evening. At the opening the hall was so filled as to make progress about the floor difficult, but as one delegate expressed it, "I am at the age where one or two dances are quite sufficient, and I guess a good many of the rest feel the same way," so the dancing votaries thinned out comfortably before the evening had advanced far.

A number of the delegates played golf, and a larger number rested in easy chairs on the porch, and apparently enjoyed the relaxation.

The morning session was opened by a short and optimistic address by W. V. Edenton, president of the Tennessee association, in which he gave a number of possible meanings to the phrase, "H. C. L.," one of which, he said, might be "hell cut loose."

Campbell Speaks.

The address of J. M. Campbell, of Bowling Green, Mo., president of the National Retail Hardware association, pleased his audience to such an extent that they begged him to continue long after his time had expired.

"Acquire a thorough knowledge of your business," he said; "how many of you know what crucible steel is, or drop forging, or the Bessemer process? And if you don't know, how can you talk intelligently to your customers about it?

"There are three methods of selling goods, which are the mailing list, newspaper advertising and the window trims. The most effective is the mailing list, because everybody likes to get letters, and there is something mysterious about a letter that attracts the customer.

"Be sure to put the prices on all of your displays, for a window display is 50 per cent less effective without the prices on it. The 5, 10 and 20-cent stores have taught us a lesson in this."

The convention will close today, with a question box and a traveling men's hour in the morning, and the reports of committees and installation of new officers in the afternoon. The delegates are almost unanimous in the opinion that this has been the largest and most successful convention and exhibition ever shown in the southern states.

THE GUMPS—GOOD WISHES FROM MR. AND MRS. A. GUMP

POTTER AND M'CALL NAMED BY WILSON

Washington, May 6.—Mark W. Potter, of New York, president of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio valley railway, was nominated today by President Wilson to be a member of the interstate commerce commission.

The appointment will bring the commission up to its newly authorized strength of eleven members if all of the three nominations now before the senate are confirmed. Mr. Potter, who is a democrat, was nominated for one of the two positions recently created by congress in enlarging the commission, and for a term which will expire at the end of 1923.

Four of the present eight commissioners are democrats and four are republicans. Of the two men nominated last week and still unconfirmed one is a democrat and one an independent.

During the past 15 years Mr. Potter, who is 52 years old, has been extensively interested in development work in the Appalachian highlands, embracing the mountain section of Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina. Before he took up the practice of law in New York, he worked as railway brakeman and later as a telegraph operator.

Samuel W. McCall, former governor of Massachusetts, was nominated today by President Wilson to be a member of the tariff commission.

BLACK CRACKERS LOSE 11-INNING STRUGGLE, 4 TO 3

Knoxville, Tenn., May 6.—(Special.)—An eleventh-inning rally gave Knoxville the long end of a 4 to 3 count in the first of a three-game series with the "Black Crackers" here this afternoon. Smith, Knoxville twirler won his own game when he folowed Hamilton's two-bagger with a single, scoring the needed tally in the eleventh frame. The local slab artist held the Atlantans to three hits behind errorless fielding.

Williams, on the mound for the visitors, was nicked for six hits. His support was excellent, the visiting negroes erring but once. Johnson will pitch tomorrow.

NEWNAN "LEANS" WILL PLAY AGAINST "FATS"

Newnan, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—Laying all other business aside, the citizens of Newnan will assemble at the baseball park here Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, to attend what is declared to be the greatest sporting event of the season in so far as Newnan is concerned—a baseball game between the business and professional men of the city, one team to be known as the "Leans" and the other as the "Fats."

The game is to be staged for the benefit of the Salvation Army. Everybody who attends will be expected to contribute $1, as participants and spectators are guaranteed $1 worth of fun. Each team announces a list of twenty players. "It is well," says the notice of the game, "to give a large number of players as no one will be able to play the entire game through and substitutions will be frequent."

"The game will be for 'blood,'" the announcement concludes, "as the losing team will contribute $50 to the Salvation Army. So let's go out and witness the 'killing.' No betting allowed."

The mayor has declared a holiday and all business houses are expected to close at 3 o'clock. That there may be no 'cutting the bases' or other underhanded efforts to turn the tide of victory it is announced that three umpires have been engaged for the occasion.

TECH HIGH CINDER MEN MEET CASTLE HEIGHTS

By Roy E. White.

Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, at Grant Field, track fans of Atlanta will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the greatest prep track meets ever held in the south, when Tech High school, of Atlanta, will face Castle Heights Military school, of Lebanon, Tenn., in a dual meet. The admission price is 50 cents.

Recently a southeastern interprep track meet was held at Sewanee, Tenn., in which some of the largest high schools of the south were represented. Castle Heights won the meet, with Tech High a close second, only three points behind the leaders.

Captain Bill Williams, of the Tech High track team, broke two prep records in the meet at Sewanee, and says that he is in much better shape now, than he was at Sewanee. One of the new records he hung up was in the pole vault, while the other was in the broad jump.

Every event of the meet is assured of at least two good men, and it should be one of the most interesting prep meets ever held in the south. The dashes are expected to prove even more interesting than those recently held, for both teams had to enter men in two or three successive events. On account of this, they could not make the showing that otherwise would have resulted.

MISTAKE IS MADE IN TAYLOR'S TRAP TOURNEY SCORE

In the scores of the recent Georgia state trapshooting tournament, appearing in The Constitution of Wednesday, the scores made by J. T. Taylor, of Atlanta, who was high man among the Georgia professionals, were given out as being 367 out of 400 birds. This was in error, and we take pleasure in changing the score made by Mr. Taylor to 380 out of 400 instead of 367 out of the same number.

On the first day of the shoot, Taylor dropped 92 birds out of a hundred; on the second day, 147 out of 150, while on the last day he broke 141 pigeons out of 150. For the four hundred registered targets, Taylor's score was seven points higher than that of Freeman, who copped the Georgia state championship for the amateurs, while for the last two days of the tournament, those which decided the winning of the title, Taylor's count was 288 out of 300 birds, while Freeman was dropping 287 out of the same number.

BOYS' HIGH WILL PLAY RIVERSIDE TOMORROW

Boys' High and Riverside Military academy will stage their second game in the G. I. A. A. Saturday morning at Grant field. The game will be called at 10 o'clock and the admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

In the first game at Gainesville, the Cadets were winners by the score of 5 to 2. The game was close all the way, and at no stage was victory certain for either team.

Since this game, Riverside has bowed to Gordon and Lanier. Boys' High has defeated Gordon, the local outfit incidentally being the only team to win from the Barnesville boys, and lost a heart-breaker to Lanier, the count being 2 and 1.

The game with Riverside bids fair to be one of the best prep games of the season. Both teams are pretty evenly matched in every department of the game.

Riverside has a fast, well balanced team, and under the careful tutelage of Coaches Rawson and Beaver, will bring an aggregation that will be hard to head.

Boys' High has been going great guns of late, and are going into this contest determined to win, and even the count with the Gainesville lads.

Coach Rawson will send Benson, his best bet to the mound, while Coach David will rely on Duby White to put 'em over for the High school. A great pitching duel is in store for those who journey to Grant field Saturday morning.

The following line-up will be used:

RIVERSIDE.	Pos.	BOYS' HI
Cooper	2B.	Smith
Cline	SS.	Baum
Lewis	C.	Wallace
Maddox	L. F.	Morris
Davis	1B.	Clark
Peace	R. F.	McGarity

Benson	P.	White

This lot is on the west side of Peachtree Road, and is one of the most desirable locations on this beautiful street. The lot fronts 237 feet on the road, and has a depth of 400 feet.
